RUSSIANS TAKE KEY NAZI STRONGHOLD

JAP INVADER FORCE LANDED NEAR FOOCHOW

Attack Seen as Renewal of Effort To Knock China Out of War.

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, May 21—Japanese troops have been landed near Foochow, chief port and capital of the east coast province of Fukien, and have been engaged in heavy fighting with Chinese defense forces, the Chinese high command announced today.

The invading force was carried aboard a dozen transports, which made their way up the min river to a point near the city.

Foochow, a city of 450,000 and largest port between Shanghai and Hongkong, was the southward extension in the series of Japanese attacks which is assuming the character of a major offensive, perhaps intended to knock China out of the war.

Drenching Rains Stall Burma War

By The Associated Press

Drenching monsoon rains stalled the battle of Burma at China's back door today while Japan's invasion armies pressed a grave new threat on the Chinese east coast with a 30-mile advance into Chekiang province.

Dispatches said the Japanese, apparently determined to overrun Chekiang and wipe out any air bases which could be used for medium-range bombing attacks on Tokyo, were advancing southward on a 150-mile front.

A Chinese army spokesman said that the invaders, 30,000 to 40,000 strong already had advanced within 50 miles of Kinhwa, provisional capital of Chekiang province, and that heavy fighting was in progress along the entire front. Kinhwa is 180 miles below Japanese-occupied Shanghai.

On the Burma front, Chinese military dispatches said Japanese thrusts northward into China's Yunnan province had been fairly well checked, with torrential rains helping to bog the enemy advance.

In the battle of Australia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported that allied bombers renewed their assaults on Japanese advance bases after a 24-hour lull, raiding the enemy airdrome at Koepang and the harbor of Dili, both on Dutch-Portuguese Timor island.

With the Japanese now apparently conserving their bomber forces for a big-scale attack, Australia moved to draft 35,000 more men into a corps which is preparing the "down under" continent as a base for a great allied offensive.

SCHOOL SINGERS' BENEFIT TONIGHT

Harding A Cappella Choir Concert To Start at 8:30.

Patrons of the Harding High school a cappella choir concert tonight in the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school auditorium, may purchase tickets at the door. The concert is scheduled to start promptly at 8:30.

Money from the sale of tickets at 50 cents each will be applied to the cost of 70 new choir robes, which will be worn for the first time tonight. The cost of the robes is about $500. The Marion Kiwanis club has been assisting the choir in selling tickets.

The choir was organized in 1937 by L. G. Jones, public school music supervisor, who will direct tonight's program. In the five-year period the membership has averaged 70, with from 50 to 60 per cent of the members graduating annually.

Daily rehearsals train the choir to sing without accompaniment, the most difficult type of singing. The a cappela choir is select group of high school singers, who begin their training in the ninth grade.

The program tonight will mark one of the last public appearances of 55 members who are seniors.

Juvenile Cooks Cause Fire Department Call

When a group of boys started a fire to cook bacon without their parents' knowledge, the parents saw the blaze and called firemen last night.

The boys started the fire near the E. L. Daum residence at 127 East Fleming street about 8:25 p. m. yesterday.

SENATE SMEAR IRKS WAR FOES

Pre-Pearl Harbor Isolationists Demand Investigation of Campaign.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—Demands for a general investigation of charges that attempts were being made to "smear" some senators who opposed intervention in the war prior to Pearl Harbor met with opposition today from Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky).

In an interview, Barkley said he did not favor launching any inquiry of this nature—as proposed by Senators Nye (R-ND), Wheeler (D-Mont), and Clark (D-Mo).

The demands were made after Barkley told the senate yesterday that a justice department investigation had exonerated Senator Walsh (D-Mass) of charges that Walsh could be accused of "conspiring with enemy aliens" in a Brooklyn house of ill-repute, charges which Barkley said were published in the New York Post.

Nye told reporters, however, that he and others intended to press for an investigation of what

DOMINY FINED $400 ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Workhouse Term Suspended During Good Behavior.

Lawrence (Red) Dominy, 35, of 486 Ballentine avenue, accused of liquor law violations, changed his previous plea of not guilty to guilty before Municipal Judge W. D. Hazen yesterday afternoon. He was fined $400 and costs. Judge Hazen also sentenced him to six months in the Columbus workhouse. He suspended sentence provided Dominy preserve good behavior in the future. Judge Hazen warned that if Dominy were brought into his court again, he would automatically be sentenced to the workhouse for six months.

Dominy was charged with possession and sale of liquor without a permit and "keeping an illegal place of sale" after he was arrested May 10 in a series of liquor raids by state liquor agents and city police.

Contract for Ohio War Plant Awarded by U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—The war department reported award of a contract to General Motors Corp. for construction-management in connection with an Ohio manufacturing plant to cost "in excess of $3,000,000." The Detroit offices of engineers will supervise construction.

Here's How To Get Priorities for Defense Housing Projects

Procedure Explained by FHA Director Following City's Designation as Housing Critical Area.

Further information about the effect of yesterday's War Production Board order placing Marion in a "defense housing critical area" came today from the office of A. L. Guckert of Columbus, district director of the Federal Housing Administration for 43 central Ohio counties including Marion.

Here are some of the important facts Mr. Guckert pointed out:

Marion's designation as a "defense housing critical area" affects only the priorities situation as it applies to house construction or remodeling. It assures priority preference for projects that would provide housing for war workers or military personnel.

The order does not place Marion in what the FHA calls a "defense area" so far as FHA insurance of mortgage loans is concerned. This means that another order will have to come from Washington before builders can finance housing projects here through mortgage loans that are covered by FHA insurance. Until the "defense area" designation comes through, some of Marion's larger housing projects involving FHA loans may be delayed. However, this delay is expected to be only a matter of days.

If you have the money to finance your house construction or remodeling project, and if the work you mean to do will provide housing for war workers, you can immediately get priority approval on the list of materials you need.

Method of Procedure

If you have already employed a contractor to do the job for you, have him obtain a priorities application form either from a financial institution or by writing to Mr. A. L. Guckert, District Director, Federal Housing Administration, Old Postoffice Building, Columbus, O. In writing for forms, specify whether your project is for new construction or remodeling, because different forms are used. When you get the application form, fill it out. In some cases both you and the contractor will have to sign the application. Then send the application to Mr. Guckert's office. There a recommendation will be noted on it and it will be forwarded to a regional War Production Board office in Cleveland, serving four states. The Cleveland office will give the final decision on the application and send it back either to you or to the contractor. If your request is approved, you will receive priority papers that you may present to your builders' supply dealer authorizing him to furnish you with the materials specified on the WPA order. Mr. Guckert said most applications will clear through the two offices in a matter of 10 days.

No Local Office Likely

So far as is now known, there will be no priorities office set up in Marion. The applications will be handled entirely through Mr. Guckert's office in Columbus at present. Incidentally, when Mr. Guckert passes on priority applications, he is working for the War Production Board. When he passes on an application for FHA mortgage insurance, he is working for the Federal Housing Administration.

Federal action to place Marion in a "defense area" to qualify builders here for FHA insured loans is being awaited with interest both here and in Mr. Guckert's office. He said he knows of a "great many" applications for FHA insured mortgage loans. These loans are not issued directly by the FHA, but are obtained through private lending institutions. The FHA provides the lending institution with insurance on the mortgages and consequently the loans must meet FHA requirements and be submitted to FHA for approval. When an application is received at Columbus, Mr. Guckert arranges for an appraisal and other preliminary investigation before passing on the project.

Requirements Listed

Since any projects planned now must qualify as defense housing, Mr. Guckert pointed out the following requirements set up by the housing priorities branch of the War Production Board as follows:

(a) located within a reasonable commuting distance from the place or places of defense employment in any of the Defense Housing Critical Areas included in the list of such areas;

(b) intended primarily, suitable for, and available to workers engaged or to be engaged in one of the defense activities within the area, and shall include the customary equipment and appurtenances necessary to occupancy, and may include stores and other facilities necessary to community life, not otherwise available;

(c) offered at a sales price or rental within reach of the defense workers for whose occupancy the housing is intended; provided the estimated market price shall not exceed $6,000 per family unit if for sale, or the estimated shelter rental shall not exceed $50 per month per family unit, except where extreme circumstances may require that units exceeding these limits be provided.

The preference rating granted to a project will apply to the materials, products and items of equipment included in the Defense Housing Critical List, and in such quantities as the Office of Production Management may permit under the order granted.

Application Titles

If you want to apply for priority preference rating for construction of a new house, the application form you should ask for is PD-105.

If you want to build additional living accommodations onto an existing structure, you should make your application on form PD-406. This form is likewise used where a single house is being converted into a double or multi-family unit. One qualification on the use of this form is that the cost of critical materials can not exceed $100 per room or $800 per structure.

Lumber Supply Here Ample for 60 Days

Marion lumber dealers probably have enough stock on hand to supply housing project needs for a 60-day period, an inquiry among the dealers indicated today.

However, dealers in Marion expressed belief that there would be no extension of the 60-day restriction, and that, inasmuch as no housing projects have been undertaken here yet, corrective measures would be in force soon enough to prevent any shortage of lumber for Marion's projects.

Fear that the order would curtail all defense housing projects proposed or already under way was dispelled today by Washington officials who said a remedy for the housing standstill will be sought immediately.

The Associated Press reported WPB officials disclosed defense housing construction throughout the country is slowing to a standstill as a result of the army's hold on virtually all supplies of softwood construction lumber.

In at least 15 cities, many with heavy concentrations of war industries, housing projects have been stopped entirely and at least 35 other cities have reported "critical" situation because of dwindling lumber stocks.

Direct cause of the threatened collapse of the housing program is a WPB order, issued a week ago at the insistence of the war department "freezing" all sales and deliveries of softwood construction lumber by large producers for 60 days—except for deliveries to the army, navy or maritime commission.

"There certainly was no intention of stopping defense housing," James S. Knowlton, director of industry operations, declared today, "and something will be done about it."

Union Co. Soldier Weds in Australia, Parents Informed

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, May 21—The first Union county man to take a foreign war bride was brought to attention today when Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brose of Marysville announced the marriage of their son, Herbert, to Miss Bessie Sorrell of Geelong, Victoria, Australia.

Mr. and Mrs. Brose received a cablegram announcing the marriage Wednesday and along with it, announcement of the promotion of their son to the rank of first sergeant. They had received from the to-be bride three letters in the last three weeks but the marriage was a surprise to them.

The parents received word on Feb. 13 that their son had arrived safely in Australia. Sgt. Brose enlisted in the U. S. army in August, 1938. He was stationed at Fort Hayes, Columbus, for three years and was transferred to Patterson Field several months ago. He is a mechanic in the air corps and is 21 years of age.

ARMY FLIERS USE BOMBS TO QUELL HAWAIIAN ISLAND VOLCANO

Aerial bombing operations by U. S. army fliers helped tame the violent eruption of Hawaii's great volcano, Mauna Loa, on the island of Hawaii, where lava streams threatened the city of Hilo until diverted. The lava flow now is subsiding, according to word from Hawaii. This picture, which has just reached the United States, shows Mauna Loa during its eruption. The eruption began April 26 but has just been disclosed since it constituted information of "value" to the Japanese. (International News Phonrphoto.)

SEEK EASING OF TAX PAYMENTS

Installment Plan Worked Out To Relieve New Stepped-Up Rates.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21 — The house ways and means committee sought today to work out a system of installment payments of income taxes to soften the blow of steeply-increased rates in the low-income brackets.

Hardly had the committee completed its new individual tax program by raising the range of surtaxes from 6-77 per cent to 12-81 per cent than it turned to Secretary Morgenthau's proposal to collect up to 10 per cent of taxable income from salaries and wages.

That plan would authorize the treasury department, perhaps in September, to make regular reductions from paychecks which would be used as a credit against the tax bill due next March 15.

The committee's new income tax proposals would add an estimated $2,750,000,000 to the $5,000,000,000 now collected, with heavy emphasis on incomes below $5,000.

The program would be based on $500 exemptions for single persons and $1,200 for husbands and wives, a normal tax of 6 per cent instead of 4, and minimum surtax rates starting at double the present level of 6 per cent on the first $2,000 of net income.

The committee, rejecting a treasury suggestion, decided to

Older Selectees Receiving Tests

Physical screening examinations are now being given to some of the older Marion county men of the third draft registration, local draft board clerks said today.

The third registration included all men between the ages of 20 and 21 and 35 and 45.

Such registrants who are available for service are being given screening examinations now in preparation for the June call. However, the percentage of older men taking the examinations now is relatively small in comparison with the total, clerks said.

BAN ON SUGAR EASED BY OPA

Supplies Will Be Made Available, Although Limited, for Canning.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—With greatly liberalized allotments of sugar for home canning, the government today encouraged housewives to can a maximum of the nation's fruit crops but made sure the sugar in each jar would be something less than normal.

New regulations, issued by the office of price administration, stipulated that housewives might obtain one pound of sugar for every four quarts of fruit to be put up.

This compares with average peacetime canning recipes, as estimated by government experts, of one pound of sugar for every 2½ quarts.

Only an honor system—and the threat of grave penalties if caught—prevents home canners from putting more sugar into fewer cans of fruit, or from using canning sugar in the sugar bowl to augment the supply obtainable through ordinary ration-card purchasing.

OPA made much less sugar available for preserves, jams, jellies and fruit butter—only one pound a year for each person. This is because preserves require more sugar per quart than canned fruit.

Upon making application to local ration boards for a purchase certificate for canning sugar, consumers must state how much fruit they canned last year. The time and place to apply, along with announcement of the period for which sugar may be bought, will be announced later by the local boards.

Previously, OPA had announced that canning sugar would be alloted on a basis of only five pounds for each person. The liberalization does not mean that there are now "unlimited supplies" of sugar available for home canning, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said, but that the government is anxious to encourage as much home canning as possible for two reasons: to preserve the 1942 food crop and to relieve the burden on commercial canners and food transportation facilities.

Preliminary Work on Marion War Depot Under Way

Work is progressing quietly but rapidly on the preliminary stages of Marion's new military project, the Marion Holding and Reconsignment Depot to be built near the south border of the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

Major George G. Davies, 40, of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, has arrived in Marion and is serving as acting area engineer.

The Toledo architect-engineer firm of Britsch & Munger is now preparing preliminary engineers' studies and construction drawings, and it is expected a contract for the construction work will be awarded around June 1.

The construction project is expected to provide employment for between 1,500 and 2,000 workers during peak operations, and to run for possibly five months.

When completed, the depot probably will provide employment for 500 operating employes.

It will serve as a depot for storing and distributing war materials and will occupy an area of between 700 and 1,000 acres.

Major Davies, the acting area engineer, has been connected with government construction projects over a period of years, most of the time as a civilian employe engaged in engineering work.

HOOVER URGES FULL PRESIDENTIAL POWER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21—To win total war, says Herbert Hoover, dictatorial economic powers must be vested in President Roosevelt.

"There must be no hesitation in giving them to him and upholding him in them," the former president declared last night. "Moreover, we must expect a steady decrease in economic freedom as the war goes on.

"We must start our thinking with a disagreeable, cold, hard fact. That is, the economic measures necessary to win total war are just plain fascist economics."

Hoover addressed the national industrial conference board, a research organization.

From the same platform came a forecast of hit-and-run raids by the axis on American war plants and a prediction that the end of 1943 would see 22,500,000 additional soldiers and war workers in action.

"I predict," said undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, "that the first attack which is made directly—from the air or otherwise—will bring out in us the same qualities that were shown so splendidly by the English at the first bombing raids."

The prediction of the increase of 22,500,000 in soldiers and war workers was made by War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, who hinted there would be some sort of a labor draft.

In the armed forces, McNutt declared, 2,000,000 men will be added in 1942 and 2,500,000 in 1943.

President Draws No. 2; Peanut Vendor No. 1

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21 — President Roosevelt drew serial number U-2 in the fourth registration drawing of his selective service board today.

James D. Hayes, chairman of the board that registered the President on April 27, said U-1 was drawn by Steve Vlalankos, peanut vendor in front of the executive mansion.

The President, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, has been classified 1-C, the designation for those in the forces.

5 OTHER TOWNS TAKEN IN AREA OF STEEL CITY

Reds Blast German Fortifications in Fierce 40-Minute Battle.

By The Associated Press

Russia's armies, driving over fields littered with wreckage, reported today they had engulfed a key German stronghold, crushed repeated German tank attacks and stormed forward six more miles in the 10-day-old battle of Kharkov.

Soviet dispatches said Russian troops wiped out the Nazi stronghold's garrison in a fierce 40-minute struggle.

A Red army communique said five villages had been captured in the battle and "enormous losses" inflicted on the enemy.

Far behind the lines, Soviet guerrillas were reported to have recaptured an important city of several thousand inhabitants.

Dispatches to Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, said the German stronghold captured on the Kharkov front was one the Nazis had sought to hold at any cost—apparently a major link in Kharkov's immediate defense ring.

Held Town Three Months

It reported that the Germans had held the fortified town for three months, developing an intricate system of defense works, surrounding it with deadly minefields and clearing zones for point-blank fire.

The Russians reported fighting off German flanking assaults aimed toward Izyum and Barvenkova, 80 miles southeast of Kharkov, and holding on grimly at the eastern tip of the Kerch peninsula, barring the short-cut to the Caucasus.

Red Star reported that the Germans' heavy tank losses in the desperate fight for Kharkov had caused them to change their tactics, giving up mass mechanized counterattacks and relying instead on charges by infantry battalions or regiments supported by only 10 to 15 tanks.

Tank Battle Subsides

The battles of tanks against tanks which characterized the start of the fight are continuing only in one sector and there the issue has not yet been decided, the army publication reported.

The growing strength of organized Russian guerrillas behind the German lines was said to be dinning an ever louder challenge to the Nazi grip on once-conquered Soviet soil.

Pravda reported that guerrillas had recaptured one important city of several thousand inhabitants deep in White Russia, driving out Germans who had held the community for four months and beating off a strong German force which attempted to reoccupy positions there in a dawn-to-dusk battle.

The importance of the city—its name was undisclosed—was indicated by the fact that it is the center of 70 collective farms, each a community comparable in size to the average American country village.

A Russian communique made no specific claim of further Red army gains in the drive to recapture the Kharkov industrial center, but declared that "during the night of May 20-21 our troops continued offensive battles in the Kharkov direction."

Nazis Disregard Losses

It said that "the Germans, disregarding enormous losses, have made counter-attacks attempting to hold up the offensive of our troops," but added that "these attempts of the enemy are being defeated."

Russian reports indicated that the Axis flanking thrust in the Barvenkova area south of Kharkov had been blocked.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters pictured the Russians as suffering heavy losses as German warplanes ranged over the Kharkov battlefield in great numbers, strafing and bombing the Red armies.

The German command said Nazi troops beat off powerful tank-led Soviet attacks and destroyed 62 more Red army tanks.

Hitler's headquarters also reported strong Russian assaults were developing in the bloody lake Ilmen sector, 130 miles south of Leningrad.

Axis dispatches from Bucharest asserted that German-Rumanian counteroffensives had slowed the Russian drive upon Kharkov in "a battle of extreme violence" but acknowledged that massed Soviet forces were smashing violently at many places below Belgorod, 50 miles north of Kharkov.

Bucharest reports said powerful axis blows had forced the Russians to withdraw Tuesday to the environs of Chuguev, 20 miles

United Nations Use Money As Well As Bullets To Carry Battle To Axis

Warfare Playing Important Role in Keeping Supplies from Germany.

They Fight, Too

[illegible] job is to fight the [illegible]—with money and [illegible] barter, that device the [illegible] so popular.

[illegible] some of the staff go [illegible] British ministry of eco[illegible] warfare where they sit [illegible] three British economic ex[illegible]perts around a table filled with [illegible]—reports of cotton for sale [illegible] Turkey, opium in Persia, tungsten in Portugal and hides in Iraq. Cables start going out:

Buy the cotton—Germany needs it for clothing.

Buy the opium—Germany needs it for drugs.

Buy the tungsten—Germany needs it for munitions.

Buy the hides—German soldiers are short on boots.

What the price is doesn't matter. Nor does it matter that Britain and America control more hides and cotton than they can use.

Britain has been engaged in this type of warfare since the war began—pouring out millions. She fought battles in the Balkans, for chrome, oil, bauxite, tobacco and a hundred other items.

Now the battlefields are narrowed. America and Britain have shut Germany and Italy out of the South American field through the blockade. That has become a naval matter and Germany now can buy only in the places she can reach by land.

Turkey is the main battleground, closely followed by Spain, Portugal and North Africa.

Agents Scour Countries

Agents of America, Britain and the axis countries scour these regions daily in a grim race to find something to use.

Sometimes it isn't money the sellers want but barter for something they need.

And the hard-pressed Nazis find their own device used against them. With their industries tied up with war orders and their railroads overloaded with troop and munition transports, they cannot guarantee deliveries.

The United Nations, with control of the seas and plenty of money to buy goods in South America or barter if they do not have the articles available themselves, can supply anything that is asked.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, May 22

AN EXCEPTIONALLY eventful, lively and pleasant day may be looked for on the auguries of lunar and mutual aspects of dominating planets. While the emphasis may be placed on all manner of social, domestic, sentimental and cultural affairs—artistic, literary and the professions generally—there is definite promise of enterprising, progressive and profitable business affairs. Travel, agencies, writings, advertising and promotions all should flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may be sure of a pleasant, profitable and productive year, with many eventful and exciting situations. There may be travel, change, new interests, mainly concerning publicity, writings, speeches or other public contracts, in which personal popularity and prestige count. While many new propositions thrive yet the accent may be on cultural ambitions or objectives.

A child born on this day should be blessed with many talents and traits of character making for splendid success and happiness.

SEN. BURTON OPPOSES OHIO DEFENSE MOVE

Favors Columbus as Headquarters for Office.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21—Sen. Harold H. Burton (R) of Cleveland today joined the ranks of Ohioans contending that regional civilian defense headquarters should be returned to Columbus.

"Regional headquarters should be in the same city as those of the army corps area," he asserted last night in commenting on statements by Rep. Stephen M. Young (D) of Cleveland that supervision of the office of civilian defense should be handled by military instead of civilian officials.

Burton added that direction of the regional office "should be a full-time job," but any change in present operation methods are "up to Landis" (James M. Landis, national director of the OCD).

Transfer of the regional offices to Cleveland by Director Dan T. Moore was assailed recently by Ohio veterans organizations.

Moore declined to comment on yesterday's criticism.

Young, in a house of representatives speech, said it was unfair to volunteer workers to pay high salaries to regional directors, state directors and other civilian defense officials.

"My comrades in the Ohio department of the American Legion," Young declared, "charged that Moore was gambling with the public safety by retaining his position as regional director of the securities and exchange commission and by doing a part-time job in civilian defense."

POST-WAR DEPRESSION IS AVOIDABLE, BANKERS TOLD

Economist Says Nation Can Bear Heavy Debt.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 21 — The United States need not have a post-war depression, members of the Ohio Bankers association were told by Dr. Paul F. Cadman, economist for the American Bankers association.

The people's confidence in the value of money and the integrity of credit can prevent such a situation, he told the association's 52nd annual convention, but the loss of confidence in either would mean the worst depression in history.

The nation could bear a debt of $200,000,000,000 if necessary, he asserted.

"We have the productive capacity to produce enough wealth after the war to survive that debt," Dr. Cadman added.

"The task envisages an industrial and agricultural output greater than anything heretofore achieved. It means world markets as well as domestic markets, new economic statesmanship, an independent American people released from the dead hand of bureaucracy and the birth of initiative, courage and daring."

Urges U. S. Share In Problems of World

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21—Americans must be educated now for eventual participation in world government, the women's society of Christian service of the Methodist church was told today.

Mrs. Arthur Brin of Minneapolis, a director of the national council of Jewish women, asserted that the nation should be prepared to accept a new concept of national sovereignty which includes the "doctrine that in the conduct of our affairs . . . we must accept authority outside ourselves."

"Let us be sure that when the war is over and we are confronted with decisions," she urged, "there will be no wavering about the participation of the United States in the effort to form a world government."

Mansfielders Sure Now That War Brings Changes

Are Now Swing Into New Routine with Gusto To Help Boost U. S. War Effort.

...ge never home for ... what has been the ... the answers. The ... made a cross-... to discover how ... has been af-... doing. In the ... is the fourth of ... on the subject.

By ROBERT ROGERS

Wide... The Associated Press ...ER, May 21—Folks ... sang, "there'll ... changes made," didn't ... of it.

There've been plenty of changes in this north central Ohio city of 37,000, but folks have shown the past five months they can take it.

While sons go to the armed services, residents still can smile and kid about the sugar they have stored in the attic, or how they are riding junior's bike to work, or how they're worried about the missus ruining the tires by running the car into the curbstone.

Yes, it's evident that folks here are proud and eager to do their share in the tremendous war job—and they're getting a kick out of doing without many luxuries.

They've found out that they can get places by walking. They're driving slower to conserve tires and are sharing rides with neighbors they never knew before. Fatalities and accidents for the first four months of 1942 have totaled fewer than one-third of the number recorded during the corresponding period a year ago.

Learn Geography at Home

Folks who used to motor 60 and 70 miles for an evening's entertainment have become a lot more conscious about geography. They're spending evenings at home with a newspaper or tending a "victory" garden, hundreds of which dot every vacant lot and backyard.

They're talking about traction splints and the symptoms for shock. Approximately 3,000 persons enrolled in first aid classes are learning something they have always wanted to know but never took time to investigate. They are finding a pleasure in doing something worthwhile.

The same thing is true about other phases of civilian defense. Mansfielders believe "it can happen here," and they are preparing in a big way to cope with the situation, whatever it may be. A total of 1,200 volunteers are ready to man their posts in the event of a catastrophe.

Mansfield men discovered they could get along on one razor blade a week. And they found that it's no trouble at all to put away the empty shaving cream and toothpaste tube to turn in for a new purchase.

Help Scrap Drives

Most people have taken a personal pleasure in digging up all the scrap metal they could find, cleaning the attic and basement of papers and rags. They did it in a citywide drive, and they'll do it again.

Practically everyone has liked the new war time. And they have become pretty well accustomed to the weather being a military secret.

Their frame of mind has made the complete switch from defense psychology to war psychology.

In social circles women have abandoned luncheons and used the funds for the purchase of war savings stamps. At home they learned to accustom themselves to less sugar by using sugarless recipes in preparing daily meals.

Mrs. Julia Kiene, home economics manager for Westinghouse, the city's leading industry, has launched a "health for victory" program among wives of the workers that has attracted nationwide attention.

People here also have a sense of pride in knowing that Mansfield probably was the first city in Ohio to arrange "early bird" send-off parties for selectees leaving for induction centers. As many as 5,000 persons have turned out in a single morning to bid goodbye to the boys.

They're proud, too, that Mansfield plants are manufacturing army huts, galleys for bombers, tires for trucks, and binoculars, fuse timers, field kitchens and radio equipment.

Half on Defense Work

The Chamber of Commerce reports that 50 per cent of the persons employed in the city are either directly or indirectly engaged in war work.

Although employment is down, due to the conversion of Mansfield's largest employer, Westinghouse, from electric appliance production to war production, it is expected that the employment curve will return to normal by fall.

The transition to war production has hit Mansfield, probably harder than most cities because it was dependent largely on Westinghouse, which is shifting from sheet metal work to the manufacture of precision goods.

The company recently closed down its refrigerator assembly line and presented the last unit to the Red Cross for a blood bank.

Churches too, have played their part in the war effort. Recently nearly 1,000 persons of a local congregation gathered to honor 55 members of the group who are serving with the armed forces.

Citizens have pitched in to give Mansfield an exceptional record in the purchase of war bonds. It's going to be better, that's a cinch, because Mansfielders are exceeding the budget set up by the treasury department week after week.

We could go on and on. But it isn't necessary.

The important thing is—war has had a profound effect on the daily lives of Mansfielders, and the potential effect is far greater. It will cut further and further into regular routine. But through it all, folks in Mansfield, just like the folks throughout all of America's crowded cities and its sprawling farms, are buckling down to do the job that has to be done.

80 Heroes, One Question

NOTHING in the war so far has thrilled Americans like the successful bombing of Japanese cities by United States bombers. Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle and the 79 men who followed him on the first raid are genuine heroes, deserving all the honors that can be heaped upon them.

Gen. Doolittle reports that only nominal resistance was encountered. This is significant. Tokyo, Kobe, Yokohama, Nagoya and other important Japanese cities must be at least as well equipped to defend themselves against air raids as their counterparts in the United States.

The need for air raid protection at home now becomes acute. Could New York City, Washington, D. C., and Pittsburgh give a better account of themselves in an air raid than their counterparts in Japan—and would it be so little that all the raiders would escape safely as the United States raiders escaped?

Chance for a Grand Gesture

TYPICALLY American and in the best tradition were those bonus offers for the American aviator who bombed Tokyo. But as Brig. Gen. Doolittle explains, it would be impossible to single out an individual or even a single crew from the 80 men who participated in the successful raid that he led. Furthermore, even if it were possible, regulations forbid acceptance of cash premiums for deeds performed in line of duty.

Here is a chance for a grand gesture that certainly shouldn't be passed up. The bonus money—which amounts in total to a tidy sum—should be turned over to the relief funds of the army and navy. It would do far more good there than in individual hands. And if, as some suspect, some of it was put up in the first place with publicity value in mind, nothing would be more pleasant than to acknowledge its receipt by the relief funds, which would be mighty good publicity, too.

Theory of Diversion

IN THEIR attempt to follow the strategy of the war Americans won't be far wrong if they interpret the concentration of their fighting forces in Ireland under the theory of diversion.

From the American point of view the British isles are a tremendously important advanced base of military operations. They are what the Hawaiian Islands would be relative to the war with Japan, if the Hawaiian islands were of similar size, with an intensively developed industrial economy.

In every move in Europe, German military planners must make allowance for a possible invasion from the British isles. With the United States pouring equipment and manpower into the isles, the allowance must be constantly larger. Whether the invasion materializes or not, the possibility is a diversion of major importance in the outcome of the war. It immobilizes a large force of German troops on the European invasion coast, thereby easing the pressure on Russia to that extent whether or not an invasion is attempted.

The long odds against an attempt are being shortened day by day. The Germans now know that public opinion in both Great Britain and the United States has been prepared for an attempt to invade the continent; that public opinion in the two countries actually made it necessary for military planners to do something about invasion plans. They know that very large forces of the United States army now have been concentrated in Ireland and that they reached there in the face of aggressive attempts to stop them on the high seas. There can be no doubt in German minds that a diversion of major proportions already has been created and that it is growing day by day.

Dropping a Friendly Hint

REPORTS continue to whizz out of Washington about an acute shortage of typewriters down there. There are so many bureaucrats perforating so much red tape that there simply aren't enough typewriters to go around. Next to shipping, one gathers, most serious bottleneck in the production drive is bureaucratic inability to cover sheets of paper with typewriter ink.

This is, of course, a bad situation. The United States would feel silly if it lost the war because at a crucial moment Suzy Simper, stenographer, had to wait for her turn to sit down at a typewriter. It must not be allowed to happen. There are a number of things that could be done, besides the things the government already is doing, such as keeping the typewriters busy 24 hours a day.

One thing, so obvious and simple it's almost ridiculous would be to quit crowding the mails with hundreds of thousands of pieces of handout material, all of which had to be typed somewhere along the line. This also would relieve a lot of duplicating machines in Washington, but one gathers there's no shortage of equipment for duplicating government handouts.

News Behind the News

Taking a Calm and Candid View of Why We and Russia Are Associated.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 21—One annoying and damaging conclusion to conduct here and trend among the people now is toward Russia, and what will come out of it after the war.

A number of very critical the American public are beginning to be accepting the policy that Russia got into the war to save democracy. And there are an equal number of people on the other hand who confuse the fight of Communism rising in Russia today as a result of the methods we are going to win.

Above all, in both groups there are people who think the subject should not even be mentioned, either for fear of rocking the boat or offending Stalin.

To make the situation appear even more complex, domestic communists are coming out of the holes they entered while Russia was a passing ally of Hitler in Poland, and are disporting themselves in their publications again advising us what Americans are loyal, what we should do about this and that.

None of these notions has any basis in the principal legal facts of the case, which are apparently being forgotten. The realistic policy of this government has long been adopted, is delivering the goods to Russia better than expected, and is generally approved.

All you have to do to understand its ramifications and its restrictions is to recall the facts of how it came about. If you keep these facts in mind there can be no confusion, fear — or political agitation.

Reason

Fact one is that Russia entered this war because she was attacked by Hitler. Before that she had worked Hitler's way. Russia is not a democracy. Primarily she is fighting for her existence.

We are fighting for our existence, a different kind of existence, but against the same enemy.

War must run always to the death, and in that kind of a situation anyone who is not foolish will get every kind of help he can. Therefore, we have entered upon a joint venture which is, in effect, a mutually satisfactory partnership in war.

It is not political. We have no treaties. We are merely working together for our own self-interests in a life and death struggle.

Now this does not mean we must marry Russia. It does not mean we must adopt her form of government, now or later. If we had the form of government of the Fiji Islands or Shangri-La, it would be the same.

The administration seems to me to have kept these distinctions very carefully and clearly. Mr. Roosevelt has pushed the goods over to them, furnished the credit, praised the great valor of the Russian army and completely avoided the confusing political angles.

If all citizens of this country now followed his example, there would be no reason for attempting now to clarify the situation.

Browder

Why the President freed Earl Browder, I do not know. I do not believe it was to please Russia, because no diplomat here thought Stalin's diplomatic representatives ever concerned themselves with the Browder passport case.

As a matter of fact, Stalin's diplomats stay as far away as they can from the domestic Communist party.

Unfortunately, the domestic communists do not conduct themselves with the same restraint. Their publications seem to want to decide strictly American issues. If anyone says the Russians advanced only three miles instead of five, they are inclined to shout "Fascist" at him.

Indeed, if allowed to run loose the way they are going, they will have us all believing before this war is over that they personally saved democracy, although all we are getting from them is critical advice. There lies our danger and there lies the cause of the confusion, not in the governments and not in the policy.

If you meet those of the ilk in argument or in print, just remind them that Russia initially made the war possible by her treaty with Hitler and her actions in Poland; that we tried to help Finland when she was attacked by Russia; that neither political agitation nor false emotionalism will help either of us right now, that we both are in this matter for our own good reasons, that our governments seem to know it and are doing a darned good joint job of accomplishing victory without getting into sideline arguments.

If we keep things on that basis, no one will be fooled now or later.

Need Seen To Arouse America to Danger Confronting It So People Can Fight Back.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IT is hard to see what good purpose is served by the cheery official publicity which was issued over the week-end. There was the White House statement on shipping, in which so much was said about the shipyards and so little about the real relation of our output and our losses and our needs. There was the army-navy report on the progress of the war since Dec. 7 which passed over in silence the whole critically important subject of the submarine assault in American waters.

Surely the effect of such publicity is to give the people a false sense of security, and to promote complacency and inertia in the face of a danger which is becoming so acute that it may mean, if not defeat then an unduly long and bloody and costly struggle. What is the purpose of the pap which is being fed to the people at a time when they have a right to know the truth so that they may act and fight back, as only a people fully aroused to danger can act and can fight back?

There may be solid grounds for the comforting words which Mr. Churchill has been using of late. He has earned the right to use comforting words. It may be that the relative position in Europe as a whole is less unfavorable than sober judges thought last winter it would be by this time. But it would be worse than folly to count any of these chickens until they are hatched, or to think for an instant that the worst is over rather than ahead of us. As for our own part in the war, the spectacle of merchant ships being sunk in large numbers right off our own shores is a challenge which will become as humiliating as it is critically dangerous if we do not rise up to meet it.

We are not rising up to meet it. We are arguing about gasoline rationing cards, and not about the fact that in our own waters we are taking no extraordinary measures to protect our ships and to rescue the crews. We are acting like a hen which is fascinated by a snake; the complacency with which these tragic disasters are being accepted by the government and by the people is shocking, and it is unworthy of the brave men who are fighting our battles on the sea, on land, and in the air.

It is no sufficient and acceptable explanation to say that we are fighting a seven-ocean war with a one-ocean navy, and that our regular organized naval forces are fully engaged in more vitally important tasks. That is true, and every report that comes from competent observers brings testimony to the courage and skill and the momentum of the fighting navy. The battle which we face in our own waters is of a different order of things, it is the kind of battle where the organized professional fighting services can not prevail unless they call the people themselves to arms.

They would do that if our land was invaded. They would expect Americans to fight the enemy as the Chinese and the Russian guerrillas fight the enemy, as we are asking the Indians to fight if they are invaded. Now, the fact is that we are invaded in our own territorial waters, so badly invaded that our ships cannot proceed safely without sight of the shore, or their crews count on being rescued promptly. We are dealing with the submarine—itself a guerrilla of the sea—and since we do not have readily available organized professional forces to deal with it, how can we fail to mobilize the unorthodox craft and to call out the amateurs—the fishermen and the tugboat captains and yachtsmen and any one who can go to sea?

The British at Dunkirk showed what a people can do. They did not leave their army to perish on the beaches because there were not available the transports and escorting naval vessels which the regulations call for when an army is to be evacuated. The British went out in any kind of craft that could float and got their men back, and who will say that we must sit on shore and watch these sinkings because all the carefully designed escort vessels that we should like to have are not yet built?

At the very least we might try. Who knows what could be done by swarms of improvised vessels off our coasts? At the very least they could make life more complicated for the submarine commander and his crew since he could never know how well armed each ship was. The Chinese and the Russian guerrillas behind the enemy lines do not have the standard equipment of organized troops. At the very least also the improvised craft could save many lives where every life is precious, and when the proof that the country regards the lives of its crews as precious is absolutely indispensable.

Why is this not attempted? At bottom because the people are not being told the truth, are not being made to realize the gravity and the humiliation of what is happening, are being fed on pap. Who feeds them the pap? In the last analysis the office holders and bureaucrats who lack the imagination and the will power to meet a crisis with extraordinary measures, who lack the daring and the initiative of mind to do what they are not used to doing.

What is the cure? The cure is the fear of God put into them by the voice of the people. Nothing else will shake out the deadwood. Nothing else will wake up the sleepwalkers. Nothing else will clear the way for the resolute, resourceful and relentless men who have what it takes to win a war.

Yankee, meaning an American, was originally a Dutch word.

Bombing Threat To U. S.

Can Country Be Bombed? Will It Be?

By JOHN GROVER

CAN the United States be bombed from the air? Will the United States be bombed?

The first question can be answered flatly Yes.

The second calls for qualifications.

All military operations have a definite purpose. The purpose of aerial bombardment of America would be: (1) Disruption of civilian morale and effectiveness (2) Destruction of war plants.

The first objective might be attempted with light knockdown planes carried by submarines. The Axis also might attempt to sneak a plane tender past the Atlantic patrols.

Nuisance Value Only

The weight of bombs these planes could carry would be insignificant. There is grave doubt that the objective could be attained. Experience in this war has shown that a sprinkling of light bombs is ineffectual in destroying civilian morale. Indeed, it has had the effect of unifying the populace and actually increasing the war effort.

As for the second objective, the two bombing techniques proved most successful are (1) Pulverizing a whole city, as Rostock; (2) Destruction of specific and vitally important factories as the Diesel engine plant at Augsburg. Both require action by the biggest bombers in force.

It's roughly 4,000 miles from Narvik, Norway, to Seattle air line (closer than from Tokyo). From Brest to Boston is around 3,150 miles. Bergen-Detroit is about 3,700 miles. These distances to the north Pacific northeast coast and midlands industrial centers are within the total range of four-motored bombers. Conceivably, the planes could fly to the target areas, but they couldn't get back.

Expense Is An Item

Every plane starting the mission would have to be written off as a total loss, and bombers like that hit the till for $250,000, a copy. All the highly trained bomber crews likewise would be lost.

In addition, plane losses increase with distance flown. The British lost seven of 12 planes on the Augsburg raid. Every mile increases the chance of detection, making certain a "reception committee" will be aloft.

It boils down to this: Any effective bombing of U. S. targets enough to cause serious dislocation in a given industrial area, would require a vast expenditure of scarce, skilled personnel and the most expensive aircraft. Anything less would be ineffective.

Men and equipment are always considered expendable material in war. There's always the possibility that a desperate Hitler would be willing to pay the cost in a last-ditch gamble on slowing up U. S. production. Proof that such a possibility is present is the concentration of anti-aircraft and interceptor units around key industrial areas. You can be sure the army couldn't assign equipment which is needed elsewhere to guard an area where no possibility of attack existed.

OCD Is Wary

The quite obvious speed-up of civilian defense preparations also suggests the probability the military has passed the word to OCD bosses that the likelihood of bomber attacks increases as U. S. production forges upward.

The possibility of plane attack on the southern Pacific coast airplane plants and industrial areas also exists. The Japanese have more plane carriers than any of our enemies and might try to get one by the Pacific patrols. The frequent alerts in California prove the army isn't discounting this possibility.

It's foolhardy to poo-poo the bombing of the U. S. as impossible. The military is taking the most serious precautions. They know that planes can fly to the United States from present Axis bases. They know too that the lure of a long-shot gamble increases with losses elsewhere, in an effort to recoup.

The People Are Ahead of Con

That the American public is far ahe legislators on most matters of legisla is more willing to make sacrifices leaders suppose is the contention of Dr Gallup, leading authority on public whose article from the New York Time zine has been condensed in the June the Reader's Digest.

His continuous studies of public opini lup says, have demonstrated time ar that the farm bloc frequently does n for the farmers, nor labor leaders fo since many of these leaders are unw grant that the common people are as gent or public-spirited as they should are. In supporting his claims, Dr. Gal such instances as the polling of all employed Americans, two-thirds of w that they would be willing to have 10 deducted from their wages each pay-da war bonds or stamps. Similarly, polls per cent of farmers willing to grant ernment complete dictation over far and prices.

In his article Gallup says that if th continues to be ahead of its leaders to degree as in the past we may expect development as stiffer regulation for o labor, more drastic wartime controls d by the public itself, longer working ho some system of compulsory savings. "I for a moment maintain," he writes, "th lators should become rubber stamps, b urge that in shaping national policy listen less to the spokesmen of pressure and special interests and more to th people."

Final Plans Made For Club Opening Tonight

Entertainers Arrive For Mayfair Formal Opening Program.

Everything was in readiness today for the formal opening of the Club Mayfair at 135-139 South Main street tonight at 6.

Managers Herbert Howard and Frank Horvath, both of Cleveland, report they have engaged topnotch entertainers for the opening programs. Shorty Johnson's "Rythmeers" of Columbus have been signed for a 13-week engagement. The orchestra is composed of Shorty Johnson, saxophone; Al Bumpers, drums; and Herman Lewis, solobox. A fourth member was to arrive for tonight's show. Diane Grebb is the vocalist and Martin Kent is master of ceremonies.

The club is located in a building formerly occupied by the Kroger Grocery Co. It is owned by J. Malcolm Strelitz. Workmen have been busy for nearly three weeks in completing remodeling work for use as a night club.

Social Affairs

THE first of a number of pre-nuptial social affairs being planned for Miss Mary Axe, a bride-elect of next month, was the shower and bridge given by Mrs. Robert Axe and Miss Barbara Axe last evening at the home of the former at 215 Ellis road. In bridge the awards were won by Mrs. Mary C. Goss, Miss Ruth Murphy and Miss Elizabeth Gray. Mrs. Axe was presented her shower gifts by Gregory Axe, son of the hostess, who was dressed as a messenger. The table, at which Mrs. L. A. Axe and Mrs. C. C. Brown presided, was centered with a miniature bridal scene. The altar was lighted with tapers and vases held lilies of the valley. Completing the setting, which was arranged on a reflector, was the miniature bridal party. Favors were individual gold candlesticks with lighted tapers in miniature, and centering the small tables were small vases of lilies of the valley.

Present with Miss Axe, who will become the bride of Dr. J. J. Brown on Wednesday, June 10, were Mrs. Axe, Mrs. Brown, Miss Jane Starner of New York City, Mrs. Tom Forrest, Mrs. William Durbren, Mrs. Jack Vantz, Mrs. Mary C. Goss, Mrs. Bernard Smith, Mrs. Josephine Wood, Mrs. Robert McManon, Mrs. Earl Purdy, Misses Mary Rita Murphy, Ruth Murphy, Catherine Garceau, Elizabeth Gray and Kathryn Burke.

ARRANGEMENTS are being completed for the semi-formal dance of the Marion Pan-Hellenic association Saturday evening at the Marion Country club.

Lon Conrad and his Sultans of Swing orchestra from the Ohio Wesleyan university campus will play the dance program from 10 o'clock until 1.

Guests will be senior girl who plan to enroll next fall in colleges with national sororities. The dance will be for members and their friends.

Miss Louise Gracely is chairman and Miss Esther Guthery is co-chairman.

Second meeting of the Ohio Delta Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was held last evening in the home of Miss Peggy Knapp of 207 Bradford street.

Miss Joan Austin and Miss Catherine Jones were in charge of the study program.

SENATE

he described as "a definite campaign to smear certain members of the senate" which he said had been "going on for months."

Walsh Is Silent

Walsh, a member of what had been called the non-intervention bloc, along with Wheeler, Clark, Nye and others, did not comment.

Barkley announced to a crowded senate that the alleged proprietor of the Brooklyn house, Gustave H. Beekman, had signed a statement that Walsh was not the man who had visited his place.

There were reports, Barkley said, that soldiers and sailors had been "piled with liquor" in the house to obtain from them information on the movement of ships.

The New York Post published yesterday affidavit from Beekman saying that on May 15 and 16 he was questioned by the FBI at length and that the FBI "wanted me to identify someone else as Mr. Walsh."

The affidavit continued in part: "They showed me a picture of a man called 'Doc.' They wanted me to agree that this 'Doc' was the man and let it go at that. They questioned me for about six or seven hours. xxx

"The FBI asked me to sign the statement. Even though I knew it was untrue, I signed it. There was nothing else I could do. xxx" Attorney General Biddle told a press conference that a principal witness in the case was questioned by the FBI from 6 p. m. to 8:45 p. m. on May 15, then given sandwichres after which he made a statement during a 15-minute period.

Denies Any Duress

"There was not the slightest duress of any kind," Biddle said.

The newspaper said in a statement issued through its editor, Ted O. Thackery, and endorsed by its publisher, Dorothy S. Backer, that it would "continue to demand a full senate investigation" of the matter.

Clark declared he thought it the duty of the senate to examine further "into the motives behind this filthy conspiracy to smear a member of this body."

"If there is a conspiracy or an organized effort, as has appeared from time to time, to smear members of the senate and house who do not happen to agree with certain newspapers on public questions, the people should know it," he declared.

FACES ASSAULT CHARGE

Clyde Wilson, 28, of 348 Oak street was arrested yesterday afternoon at his home on a charge of assault and battery, filed by his wife, Mrs. Nellie Wilson. He was released by order of Municipal Judge Hazen to appear later in court.

Personal To Certain Fat Women

You adult fat people must often slim down without starvation diets and backbreaking exercises when your excess fat is due to thyroid deficiency and you have nothing else the matter with you. Just eat sensibly and take Marmola tablets only according to the recommendations and instructions with the package.

Marmola is not a cure-all. If in doubt at any time about advisability of treatment and for further information as to the properties and effects of the Marmola ingredients, consult a physician.

If you need Marmola, why not lose those ugly uncomfortable pounds the Marmola way. Don't delay. Druggists have sold more than twenty million packages during the past thirty years.

Pledges Initiated and Installation Held by Sorority

INITIATION of pledges and installation of officers were preceded by a formal dinner when Alpha chapter of the Gradale sorority met last evening at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Donald Quaintance presided as toastmistress and the welcome was extended by the retiring president, Mrs. G. L. Smart. Mrs. Fred Raab, who will serve as president for the coming year, gave the response. Jack Coughlin, director of boys and young men's activities at the Y. M. C. A., was the guest speaker. The program was sponsored by the new members.

Decorations were carried out in the sorority colors of purple and gold and places were marked with miniature shields, the sorority symbol. Spring flowers and lighted tapers completed the decorations. During the evening Mrs. Smart unveiled a new sorority shield recently purchased by the members.

Mrs. Smart presided for the candlelight initiation of the following pledges: Misses Winifred Ballenger, Beulah Benton, Dorothy Castner, Garnet Gilbert, Erma Crouse, Margretta Liebereriz, Ruth McAdow and Mildred Thomas. Mrs. James Coulson, Mrs. William Oldaker and Mrs. Arthus Thomas.

Mrs. Fred Raab was installed as primus; Miss Catherine Watson, pro-primus; Mrs. Carroll Elsey, recording tribune; Miss Virginia Koons, corresponding tribune; Mrs. Walter Corrigan, quaestor, and Mrs. G. L. Smart, reporter.

Gifts were presented to the pledges and the retiring president, Mrs. Smart.

Miss Bebe Nathan and Lt. Carl Hess Married in Texas

Miss Bebe Nathan of Huston, Tex., became the bride of Second Lieut. Carl Hess, son of Mayer Hess, Marion clothier, in a ceremony at 1:30 p. m. yesterday at Huston. Rabbi Cohen, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The couple left Huston last night for Cincinnati, where Mr. Hess will meet them Friday. Lieutenant Hess received his commission in ceremonies Tuesday at Ft. Benning, Ga. He has been assigned to Camp Pickett, Va., and will report for duty Monday morning.

Before entering the army in March, 1941, Lieutenant Hess was employed as sports editor of the Portsmouth Times. At one time he worked in the editorial department of The Star. He was graduated from Ohio State university in 1937.

Upper Sandusky Takes Option on 70 Acres

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, May 21—An option on a 70-acre tract of land has been taken by the city. The option given the city for a consideration of $1, by Mr. and Mrs. George Ball, grants the right to purchase within 60 days, for $4,700, this land which is being considered as a possible site for the city dump.

This large pasture field at the north edge of town extends from the Upper Sandusky-Tiffin road east to the Sandusky river, and from the Walberry and Root properties north to the fairgrounds.

It contains a number of deep ravines, "made to order" for the dumping of trash and rubbish, while some of the high ground in the field may be used as a burying grounds for garbage disposal.

Also under consideration is a plan to operate the garbage disposal system as a municipal service.

Morrow Co. Candidate Files for Commissioner

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, May 21—Ed. Peoples, Congress township trustee, is the first Morrow county candidate to file a nominating petition for the August primaries.

Peoples is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner. He is the only Democratic candidate to announce his intention of running. George Thomas, Republican, will be a candidate to succeed himself. He will be opposed for the Republican nomination by Lester Kile of South Bloomfield township.

TWO ACCIDENTS IN MARION AREA LISTED

Trucks Collide Near Upper Sandusky; Loss $1,500.

Marion state highway patrolmen reported two accidents yesterday.

A tractor truck driven by John [illegible]land, 29, of Akron was overturned in a ditch along Route 23 four miles east of Upper Sandusky about 2:45 p. m. yesterday. Patrolmen said the truck was overturned when another smaller truck driven by Ray F. Arnett Jr., 17, of near Prospect attempted to pass, struck the left rear and skidded into the ditch. Damage to the big truck was estimated at $1,500, patrolmen said.

Cars driven by Clyde Wilson, 28, of 301 South Vine street and Richard Noblet, 21, of near Caledonia collided about 9 o'clock last night on Route 23 a half-mile north of Marion. Patrolmen reported the cars were damaged to the extent of about $50 each. No one was injured.

Marion Student In O.S.U. Honorary Group

Ralph W. Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Howard of 423 Summit street, is one of 15 members of the Ohio State university sophomore class elected to Bucket and Dipper, junior men's honorary society, according to a news report from Columbus.

Dousing with buckets of cold water in the early hours of yesterday morning notified the men of their election. An annual part of "Traditions Week" ceremonies at the university, the Bucket and Dipper initiation for the new members took place this afternoon.

Prof Wayne Harsha of the journalism department and a member of the publications board was elected to honorary membership.

Two Runaway Boys Captured by Police

Police today reported they had taken two juveniles into custody. Both later were turned over to juvenile authorities.

A 16-year-old boy, who said he had no home address, was picked up by police early today on East Church street. Officers said he was a runaway from the Mansfield Children's home.

A 16-year-old Akron boy was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by police. His father later came here to return him to his home, police stated.

Fire Destroys Building at Soldiers' Hospital

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 21—Investigators sought to establish the cause of a fire that demolished a recently reequipped hospital building at the soldiers' home here last night.

Major A. S. Miller, domiciliary officer of the veterans' administration, set the loss at $100,000.

Erected in 1868, the three-story building was abandoned three years ago as a fire hazard. Only recently it was converted into an emergency facility—in event of bombing or other disaster—and 458 beds were installed.

FIRST BOMBER ROLLS FROM FORD FACTORY

Line Soon To Go Into Mass Production.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 21—The first of the big four-engined bombers which soon will be put into mass production based on automobile manufacturing methods has rolled off the new half-mile long assembly line of the 37-acre willow run plant, the Ford Motor company announced today.

Edsel Ford, president, told correspondents on the National Association of Manufacturers "production for victory" tour that completion of the first bomber assembly marked a new phase in Ford's war manufacturing, which now includes approximately 70 different contracts.

Besides bombers, the Ford company is making tanks of modernized design, fire control instruments, combat vehicles, cartridges and shells, engines for land, sea and air forces, individual airplane parts and other weapons which must remain secret.

The bombing plane is known technically as the B-24-E. It weighs 30 tons, and is powered by four Pratt & Whitney 1,250-horsepower engines with a cruising range of 3,000 miles at a speed of 300 miles an hour. It can carry four tons of bombs.

Charles E. Sorensen, Ford vice president, has been quoted as saying the Willow Run plant has been built on an estimated production rate of one bomber every hour.

The assembly of the first plane, Sorensen said today, has proved that airplanes can be built by the same mass production methods that Henry Ford introduced into the automobile industry with his model T car.

More War Broadcasts Planned by Networks

Two documentary broadcasts, one picturing life under Nazi rule and the other depicting America's home front in its victory drive, are being added to the networks' war schedules.

The Mutual Broadcasting System will carry the first series entitled "This Is Your Enemy" starting at 10:30 Sunday night. It will be under the auspices of the Office of Emergency Management. It is planned to have someone who has lived under Nazism as guest in each broadcast.

The other series, "This Nation at War," will be heard on the NBC blue network. The first program is scheduled for 9:30 p. m. next Tuesday, in cooperation with the National Association of Manufacturers. The broadcasts are designed to answer the question, "What happens when a nation goes all out for war?"

Delaware Co. Woman Killed During Storm

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, May 21 — Mrs. Margaret Beck, 71, was killed instantly yesterday noon when she was struck by an automobile as she crossed the Sunbury road at her home a short distance east of Delaware.

Ronald Shourds, 27, of East Canton, driver of the car, told Deputy Sheriff Earl Fravel that Mrs. Beck stepped directly in the path of his car during a driving rainstorm. He said he applied the brakes when he saw her and that the car skidded several feet before striking her.

Force of the impact damaged the grill and radiator of the car. Mrs. Beck was carried approximately 150 feet on the bumper of the car.

Mr. Shourds' account of the accident was verified by witnesses, the deputy said. The driver was enroute to Dayton.

Relatives said Mrs. Beck had started to the E. S. Tagg home to make a telephone call.

Surviving are three children, Mrs. Glenn Bucheler and Harry Beck of Delaware and Mrs. Marie Gwinn of Cleveland, a brother, M. J. Stack of Delaware and a sister, Mrs. Nora Kenney of Cleveland.

A rubber bag that can be closed about a person, leaving head and arms free, has been invented by a New York man for giving steam baths in the privacy of homes.

MARION MAN GUILTY OF DRAFT EVASION

Kenneth Mohler Convicted by Federal Court Jury.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., May 21—Kenneth Mohler, 22, Mt. Gilead, O., was convicted today by a federal district court jury of violating the selective service act.

He was charged with failing to appear before the Marion board March 30. The defendant claimed he was a clergyman in Jehovah's Witnesses and claimed exemption from military service.

Charles Pridemon, 71, Convoy, O., who served on the jury collapsed shortly after the verdict was announced. He was revived by a fire department rescue squad.

Barrymore "Very Sick" in Hollywood Hospital

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, May 21—Actor John Barrymore is "very sick" with pneumonia, his physician disclosed today.

The movie, stage and radio star, in poor health for several years, was removed to Hollywood Presbyterian hospital Tuesday night.

Dr. Hugo Kersten, his physician, commented:

"He is suffering from an abdominal condition resulting from liver and kidney ailments, now complicated by hypostatic pneumonia."

BAPTIST SOCIETY MEETS

Mrs. C. M. Gorby conducted devotions at a meeting of Circle No. 4 of the Woman's society of Trinity Baptist church Thursday at the church. Mrs. J. B. Holloway gave a talk on the work for next year and a part of the time was spent rolling bandages for the White Cross work and sewing carpet rags. Mrs. A. J. Tower conducted devotions and closed with a poem, "What Is Prayer." Mrs. Harry Woodall read an article on "Burma." Mrs. Louise Tower, Mrs. Gorby and Mrs. A. S. Keeler were on the refreshments committee.

RULES ON DEATH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21 — A coroner's jury ruled today that the very Rev. Z. Barney T. Phillips, chaplain of the senate and dean of the Washington cathedral, died May 10 from an overdose of narcotics in a prescription filled incorrectly through accident. The pharmacist who filled the prescription testified he had made an error and the jury did not hold him criminally responsible.

Red Cross Gift Voted by Oak Street P.-T.A.

A contribution of $5 was made to the Red Cross nutrition fund at a meeting of the Oak Street P.-T.A. Tuesday night. The meeting marked the close of the year. Plans were made for a picnic for the children May 29 at Lincoln park.

Pupils of all the grades took part in assembly singing and Sharon Burke sang a solo. The fourth grade, taught by Miss Clara Snyder had the largest percentage of parents in attendance at the meetings, a report showed.

Mrs. Arthur Noble was in charge of the meeting and gave a summary of the year's activities.

FINAL MEETING

The last regular meeting of the season of the Emanuel Lutheran church junior missionary band will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the church parlors, officers announced today.

GALION — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daniels of Savannah, Ga., are the parents of a daughter born at the Savannah hospital Tuesday. Mrs. Daniels is the former Ruth Markel of Galion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Markel.

SCHOOL PICNICS "OUT" FOR DURATION OF WAR

George Washington P.-T. A. Takes Action at Meeting.

For the duration of the war there will be no more end-of-the-school-year picnics at the George Washington school, it was decided at the school's Parent-Teacher association meeting Tuesday night.

Rationing of sugar, growing scarcity of other articles of food and the program of giving up non-essentials led to the decision, officers said.

The association voted $5 to the Red Cross nutrition fund. The sixth grade was presented a dollar for having the largest collection of papers and magazines in the annual paper sale. It was reported that during the 1941-42 school year there was a 100 per cent of enrollment in the P.-T. A.

Mrs. H. E. Bracy, president of the P.-T. A. council, installed the following officers:

Roy Kauble, president; Arthur Zachman, first vice president, Miss Linda Willauer, second vice president; Mrs. B. H. Buettin, secretary, and G. C. McCreight, treasurer.

Robert Imbody of the sixth grade announced the program. Devotions consisted of Bible verses by Charlene Alexander and George Miller and prayer by Mary Sutton. Monte Ellis led the audience in the salute to the flag, after which there was assembly singing of the national anthem. The music program was as follows: Song, first grade; piano number, Barbara Probst; songs, third grade; violin selection, Phyllis Huffman; selections by second grade rhythm band; songs, sixth grade; clarinet number, Phyllis Jordan; songs, fourth grade; piano number, Thomas Goetting; songs, fifth grade; accordion selections, James Walton; songs, group of sixth grade girls.

The sixth grade received the attendance award. Refreshments were served by the social committee, of which Mrs. Henry Wade is chairman.

Fund Gifts Voted By Woman's Relief Corps

Sums of $1 each were contributed to the following organizations and funds at a meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps Tuesday at the Legion Dugout: Southern Memorial, Educational and Flag funds and the G. A. R. The money donated to the flag fund will be used, with amounts contributed by other corps in the state, to purchase a silk flag to be presented to the building in which the state convention is held. The meeting this year will be at Columbus in June. Plans also were made to purchase a service flag honoring mothers of the corps whose sons are in service. A social hour will follow the business session in two weeks and will be in charge of Mrs. Harry Zieg and her committee.

BUCYRUS — William Smith, son of Mrs. Ethel Smith, was a member of the graduating class of 28 at Ohio Northern university Sunday, receiving his bachelor of science in pharmacy.

GOW HIGH IN GALION TEST

Patrolman Certified for Appointment as Police Chief at Galion.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 21—Certification of Merle D. Gow, for appointment as chief of police, was announced Wednesday by the civil service commission. Mayor William Amann said that the official appointment would be made within a few days.

Patrolman Gow will succeed the late Chief George Moody who died February 7, 1942. Since Mr. Moody's death Captain James L. Walker has been serving as acting chief.

Patrolman Gow was first appointed to the police force in October, 1940. His present appointment as chief of police comes as a result of his receiving the highest grade in the competitive promotional examination held May 8. Secretary of the commission, J. W. Winterman said Wednesday afternoon that according to state law appointment of police chief must be made from the highest grade and that only one is to be certified for appointment.

After graduating from Marion High school Gow lived in Pennsylvania for a number of years before coming to Galion six years ago.

It was announced at the same time that Homer H. Lamb has been certified as engineer at the Municipal light and power plant.

Presbyterian Women's Group Ends Season

Mrs. C. H. Linsley was in charge of devotions and prayer service at the L. O. Dickey home on Delaware, Cor. Lingo, for the chapter of the study book, "For the Healing of the Nations," at a meeting of Catherine Woods auxiliary of First Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon. The meeting, the last of the season, was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Andrews of 144 East Center street. Mrs. L. E. Crooks gave a num and Mrs. Glenn Marr. Mrs. W. R. Hoffman, Mrs. Mary Fraker and Miss Virginia Andrews.

COMMUNITY FORUM CO-CHAIRMEN NAMED

Appointments Made for Season of 1942-43.

Mrs. Everett B. Grigsby and County Supt. D. T. Mills will serve as co-chairmen of the program committee for the 1942-43 season of the Marion Community Forum, and Miss Philomen Gregg and Cecil Gabler will be co-chairmen of membership.

The appointments were made by the forum president, Dr. Harry L. Bell of Central Christian church, at a luncheon meeting of forum officers yesterday at Hotel Harding.

It was reported that a small balance remains after all bills for the 1941-42 programs were paid.

An invitation was accepted to sponsor a series of Sunday afternoon panel discussions on current topics, over Station WMRN. The first program will be given [illegible] E. E. Holt, vice president; S. Reid, secretary, and [illegible]. Other forum officers are Supt. Ingersoll, treasurer.

A Front Liner—Tough-Guy Timoshenko

Wide World Features

RUSSIAN HERO in the struggle against the Nazis is 47-year-old Semeon Konstantinovich Timoshenko, one-time peasant boy who rose to one of the three ranking posts in the Red army. His biggest test may be ahead, since some observers think German spring push aims at his southern lines.

FARMER TIMOSHENKO toiled in his native [illegible] until the 1915 draft sent him into the [illegible] army, to be trained as a machine gunner.

WORLD WAR I found him on the eastern front and there he beat up an officer, was court martialed, but saved from prison by the revolution.

AN ARMY CAREERIST by 1921, he fostered modern methods, spent months in the field with troops. Finnish war proved soundness of his theories.

CAN HIS now-seasoned army hold the Germans, and ultimately drive them out of Russia? That's the marshal's big assignment for the summer.

Race with Allies in War Production Provides New Problem for Hitler

[illegible] tanks has Germany? [illegible] planes? How many [illegible]? How fast can she [illegible]? Here Edwin [illegible] the former Berlin bureau chief of the Associated Press discusses the Nazis' struggle to keep [illegible] the battle of production. After [illegible] internment in Germany, Shanke is in Lisbon [illegible] an exchange of axis and American nationals.

By EDWIN SHANKE

LISBON, May 21 — Hitler's problem no longer is one of staying ahead of the allies' war output. Now he has a struggle to keep up with it.

Five serious bottlenecks stand in the way — the chronic and [illegible] shortage of raw materials, sabotage and lacks of manpower, transportation and electric power.

Production figures, naturally, are state secrets. What meager [illegible] or official indications that [illegible] are open to suspicion as [illegible] to mislead.

An estimate by a source with access to reliable information, however, has put Germany's airplane production potential at between 2,200 and 2,500 planes a month. Her total of planes is believed to have risen from about 10,000 when the war started to about 25,000 now.

Yet the need for airplanes grew so urgent last fall that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering ordered to the eastern front all planes reserved for testing and experimentation.

Aircraft engineers who had been working on new designs were instructed to concentrate on boosting production.

Many Engines Faulty

From one plant alone, it was said, one out of every four engines was being turned back for overhauling after only a few flights.

Submarines slid from the ways at a rate estimated at 15 to 18 a month.

But Germany is building no capital ships because, say naval officers, she cannot and still keep up other needed naval building.

Her only aircraft carrier, the Graf Zeppelin, is said to be lying in Gotenshafen harbor only 80 per cent completed.

With unlimited manpower and raw materials resources, naval experts believe, Germany could produce 25 to 28 U-boats a month.

There are no reliable estimates on tank production but Nazi difficulties are indicated by the fact that two tank divisions, camouflaged with desert yellow for Africa, had to be repainted overnight and sent to Russia at the height of the campaign last fall.

The windfalls of booty from conquered countries helped in the first two years. Now, however, vital tin is being scraped almost to the bottom, the loot from the Ukaine admittedly will not be available this year and the entry along with the allies' unexpected of the United States into the war economic staying power has pushed the Nazis' production to the very limit.

Hitler Demands Sacrifices

No less than twelve government agencies try to pound war production out of industry and tell the laborer where he must work. All of Hitler's recent speeches demanded greater sacrifice for greater production.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and the Nazi party have been beating the drums for more work and more results. There has been ruthless extermination of saboteurs.

There is no way to determine just how hard sabotage has hit German war production but there are clues. New decrees have threatened even death for false reports on raw materials, labor reserves or needs in manpower or supplies to fill war contracts.

Gastapo guards watch every vital war factory. Still, at least 1,000,000 shells shipped from Czecho-Slovakia to the Russian front were reported to have been duds.

A prison camp at Moabit, in the center of Berlin, is filling up with prisoners accused of sabotage, both Germans and foreigners, especially Czechs.

There are daily notices in the newspapers and on official news pillars in the streets of persons beheaded for sabotage or "damage to the national economy."

A New York inventor has invented an ultraviolet ray lamp in a home laundry machine to kill germs in clothing while being washed.

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—Adv.

Curling, a national Scottish game was introduced in the 18th century from the low countries.

Stucco and wall boards can now be made from oats.

WALDO ARRANGES FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Cong. Smith To Give Address in Program Sunday.

Complete plans for observance of Memorial day at Waldo Sunday were announced today. A parade will leave Community park at 1:30 and will march to the cemetery where Richard Smith will recite Lincoln's Gettysbury address. At 2:30 the parade will return to the park.

Clyde F. Forry, superintendent of the Waldo school, will preside for the park program. The Eagles band of Marion will play the overture and a Waldo vocal quartet will give several numbers. Rev. S. C. Long, pastor of the Waldo St. Paul's Lutheran church, will give a Scripture reading. A girls' quartet will sing several numbers followed by the invocation by Rev. Barr, pastor of the First Reformed church. Mrs. B. D. Osborn will lead the assembly in singing the "Star Spangled Banner." An instrumental quartet will give several numbers.

Cong. Frederick C. Smith of Marion, Eighth congressional district representative, will give the memorial address. Rev. Long will pronounce the benediction.

Virginia Bender and Mary Ethel Beck will be color bearers and children of the Waldo school will be flower bearers. Waldo fraternal groups will march in the parade.

BRISTLEY'S FOOD MARKET SET FOR FORMAL OPENING

Mt. Vernon Avenue Business Under New Ownership.

Bristley's Food Market at 598 Mt. Vernon avenue, formerly operated by Boyce Morgan, will hold its formal opening Friday and Saturday.

The market's new manager, Vernon Bristley, has lived in Marion about a year and formerly managed Kroger stores here. He has been employed at the Commercial Steel Casting Co. for six years.

Mr. Bristley has been operating the store for a month. The store will handle the Red and White food brand.

BURTON WARNS AGAINST GOVERNMENT CONTROL

Says Free Enterprise Will Bring High Living Standard.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21—The post-war period will bring the "greatest advance in standards of living the world has ever known," if America rejects government control of business for free enterprise," says Sen. Harold H. Burton, Cleveland Republican.

He told a "victory convention" of Ohio State university students last night that "following the war there will be the greatest demand in the history of the world for consumers goods. Crists will then come in the choosing of the fundamental course to be followed.

"If, at that moment, America's faith in individual enterprise and initiative guides our course, it will preserve freedom of opportunity for the small businessman as well as the large, for the farmer, laborer and industrialist alike."

Burton stated that if government control of business is permitted "we shall have won the war only to lose our freedom to some form of totalitarian state . . ."

India, with a population of 389 million, is the world's largest producer of tea, sugar and jute.

To Release Flow of LIVER BILE

Do This Every Morning For 30 Days

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts tonight. Start right in tomorrow morning and take as much as will lie on a dime in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast or in your morning cup of tea or coffee and keep this up for 30 days. Kruschen taken this way helps relieve such symptoms as sick headaches, bowel sluggishness and so-called billious indigestion when due to insufficient flow of bile from the gall-bladder. You can get Kruschen, a famous English formula made in the U.S.A., at Eckerd's, Inc., or any drug store. You must be satisfied or money back.

CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS Note: For an occasional cathartic or purgative, to relieve common constipation we believe there is nothing better than quick-acting, Kruschen in larger doses—try it according to directions on the bottle.—Adv.

Himmler Ready To Vent Fury on Hapless Dutch

Hitler's decision to let his chief hangman, Heinrich Himmler, apply the full fury of gestapo "pacification" to the Netherlands is evidence of belief that this hearthstone of western Europe become one of the main routes of allied invasion.

Since Monday Himmler is reported to have been in the Netherlands, organizing his horrors, and cloaking with ge tapo authority even the loutish Dutch Nazis who betrayed their country two years ago.

There are excellent factual reasons for an allied bridgehead to the Netherlands, when the time is ripe for a western land front, and a situation also has arisen there which might conceivably give the allied invaders a greater degree of skilled and organized assistance from within than will be available in other countries.

The Germans themselves admit that the class primarily responsible for the long growth of opposition to the occupying forces is the officer personnel of a Dutch army which once totaled 400,000.

Obviously, the Germans have not caught all the officers who had so little chance to fight in May of 1940, or Hitler would not have detached Himmler from his bloody work in Germany and elsewhere. There are ample indications that these officers are in frequent contact with their own exiled government and their British allies and that they are carefully preparing to assist the first allied forces to set foot on the moist, lush soil of Holland.

The swaggering Dutch Nazi storm troopers, now responsible to Himmler, will not swagger long. Their lot is the worst that can befall a traitor. Their countrymen detest them—up to and including their socalled fuehrer, Anton Mussert.

No weapons which Himmler can give them can save them from the awful wrath of the true Dutch.

FREMONT PARENTS HEAR FROM OFFICER IN BATAAN

General Writes Before Fall of U. S. Stronghold.

By The Associated Press

FREMONT, O., May 21—Brig. Gen. James R. N. Weaver, believed to have been captured by the Japanese in the fall of Bataan, was 51 yesterday — and his parents here believe the best possible gift would have been a good meal.

On the eve of the anniversary the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Weaver, received a letter from their son written on Bataan peninsula March 14. Scarcity of food and supplies was a major problem, it was evident.

The letter was written, General Weaver said, on paper placed by a native around the first half dozen eggs the officer had seen for some time.

Weaver related how he joked with soldiers in the Fort Clinton tank unit about fishing through Lake Erie ice. He mentioned the efficiency of Captains Arthur Burholf, Robert Sorensen and Harold Collins of the Fort Clinton unit.

POLICEMAN KILLED

By The Associated Press

CLEMENTON, N. J., May 21—Patrolman George C. Miller, 52, was shot to death on a quiet residential street today as he went to the aid of a woman who had reported an armed prowler outside her house. Three hours later—while a posse searched for him—Justice of the Peace John P. Lynch, 44, was taken into custody and held without bail on a murder charge. County Prosecutor Fumin Michel said Lynch was found in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Bertha Mitchell, 33, who had summoned police.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LEGIONNAIRES COMPLETE STATE PATROL COURSE

Graduation Exercises To Follow Dinner Meeting.

Graduation exercises for 10 auxiliary policemen who have just completed a course of instruction given by the Marion state highway patrol will be held Friday night after a dinner at Hotel Harding.

The graduates, members of the American Legion, will receive certificates, identification cards and arm bands denoting their accomplishment. The course they have taken was conducted over a period of 15 weeks and covered 19 subjects.

Present at the dinner will be Lieutenant S. D. Augenstein of the Findlay station.

Patrolmen have announced another 15-week course will be undertaken soon if enough recruits register for the training. Legionnaires from Marion, Morrow, Crawford and Wyandot counties are eligible for the class. About 35 hours of instruction are given with the course.

Price and Rationing System To Be Changed

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 21—Birkett L. Williams, chief of the Cleveland regional office of price administration, has written all Ohio county rationing coordinators that simplification of price and rationing administration now would mean elimination of many local boards.

"Those boards retained," William said last night, "will be given permission to hire sufficient personnel to take care of all retail work, with the present board members functioning merely in a supervisory capacity."

The Cleveland region's employes, now numbering 275, eventually might total 8,000 in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan and West Virginia, Williams said.

THIEVES FIRE STRIPPED CARS

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., May 21—Police and Stark county deputy sheriffs are seeking thieves who set fire to five autos on county roads after stripping them of tires and batteries. A sixth car was stolen and stripped but was not fired.

HUGE SALVAGE TOTAL

Report U. S. Landing

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21—Axis and axis-dominated radios asserted today that United States troops had arrived at Gibraltar, although they differed somewhat on details. There was no confirmation of these reports, all of which were presented as emanating from Algeciras, Spain, near Gibraltar.

TAX

retain the present 10 per cent earned income credit up to $14,000 in computing normal taxes only and also kept the present $400 exemption for dependents.

Thus, the committee would bring into the income tax fold for the first time single persons earning as little as $10 a week.

Committee members said there had been no serious discussion of President Roosevelt's recent suggestion that individual incomes be held to $25,000 a year after payment of taxes.

Treasury tax experts have explained in this manner the so-called salary "withhold tax" as a means of collecting income taxes on a "pay-as-you-go" basis:

Take a man who earns $200 a month and who has a wife and one child. He would have dependent exemptions of $1,600. To that would be added 10 per cent of $1,600 as an average for other reductions, or a total of $1,760. This would mean exemptions of $146.66 a month. His estimated net taxable income would then be $53.44 a month. A maximum ten per cent collection would be made on that base—$5.33 a month. Those monthly payments would be credited as part payment of taxes when individual returns are filed on March 15.

WILLYS REPORTS PROFIT

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, May 21 — Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., reported a net profit of $666,868 for the six months period ending March 31, 1942. This compares with a loss of $80,856 in the corresponding six months ending March 31, 1941.

TALL WOMEN FAVORED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—The war production board decided today that any woman standing 5 feet 8½ inches or more in her stocking feet was of "unusual height" and therefore exempt from skirt and coat length limitations. Judges' robes were another exception.

Mascot Suspended

By The Associated Press

SHAWNEE, Okla.—Rags II, the fire department's new mascot, is on leave at the home of Fireman Sherman Casey until he grows up and learns more about the pitfalls of life.

Young Rags, who replaced the original Rags after the latter was killed by a car in the line of duty, is not losing his status as a regular "fireman," however.

"Rags still is a member of the department," officials pointed out.

"But he was hit twice within two days, once by an automobile and again by a fire truck. Nothing serious—he was just bruised. But we want to farm him out a while until he learns to protect himself."

MASONIC ORDER REUNION HELD

Marion Council Gets Perfect Grade at Inspection.

More than 250 members and visitors attended the eighty-sixth annual reunion and inspection of Marion Council No. 22, Royal and Select Masters, yesterday afternoon and last night at Masonic temple. Sixteen councils were represented from Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Lima, Kenton, Mt. Gilead, Delaware, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus and Elyria.

Distinguished guests included William C. Winans of Cincinnati, grand master, Judge Horace H. Nye of Elyria, deputy grand master; Robert F. Stoltz of Columbus, past grand master, Anthony T. Vollmann of Columbus, inspector of the Eleventh Masonic district, and Paul E. Reed of Columbus, grand sentinel and inspecting officer.

The council received a grade of 100. Mr. Reed reported the first time a perfect grade has been awarded to any council in the fifth arch, of which Marion council is a member. Grand Master Winans in his talk said the Marion council would be one of few in the state to achieve the mark.

Attendance Requirement

To obtain a perfect grade it was necessary that Marion council have at least 30 per cent of its membership present at inspection, obtain candidates in a number equaling at least five per cent of the membership, have at least nine members present at the annual arch reunion, and to have certain social functions during the year.

Mr. Winans complimented the officers highly on their work and other compliments were paid the council by Mr. Nye, Mr. Stoltz, Mr. Vollmann and Edwin P. King. Mr. King, one of the class of 36 candidates for the super excellent master degree, including four from Delaware, spoke on behalf of the class.

Medal Presented

A feature of the dinner hour was the presenting of a 50-year medal from Marion Chapter No. 62, R. A. M., to James M. Davidson, former Marion county common pleas court bailiff and oldest resident of the Ohio Masonic home at Springfield.

The presentation was made by Harvey T. Gracely, Thirty-Third degree Mason and a past grand master of the council.

Mr. Davidson, 96 today, and Franklin O. Tuttle, also a resident of the Masonic home, left Marion by bus this morning in time to be at the home for a birthday celebration at noon, arranged in his honor by the superintendent.

The reunion started at 2:30 with the registration of guests and members of the council. At 3 council was opened, with Robert F. Williams, master, presiding. Mr. Gracely presented the distinguished guests. At 3:30 the royal masters degree was conferred on a class of 18 candidates, with Ralph E. Carhart presiding, and immediately afterward the select masters degree was conferred, with Mr. Williams presiding.

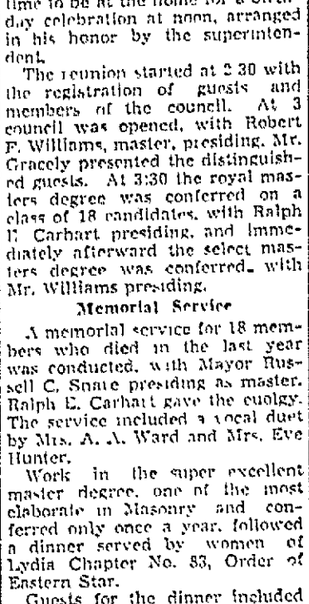
Memorial Service

A memorial service for 18 members who died in the last year was conducted, with Mayor Russell C. Snare presiding as master. Ralph E. Carhart gave the eulogy. The service included a vocal duet by Mrs. A. A. Ward and Mrs. Eve Hunter.

Work in the super excellent master degree, one of the most elaborate in Masonry and conferred only once a year, followed a dinner served by women of Lydia Chapter No. 83, Order of Eastern Star.

Guests for the dinner included wives of the distinguished guests and the Marion council officers. These guests included Mrs. Winans, Mrs. Nye, Mrs. Stoltz, Mrs. Robert F. Williams, Mrs. Harvey T. Gracely, Mrs. Ralph E. Carhart, Mrs. Stuart E. Jones, Mrs. B. Harry Gast, Mrs. James G. Cooper, Mrs. John T. Gruber, Mrs. Ralph G. Williamson, Mrs. Halleck Secrest, Mrs. Fred L. Carhart, Mrs. Eve Hunter, Mrs. A. A. Ward and Mrs. Harold W. Hall.

DEFENDS SELF



Appearing without counsel at a postoffice department hearing in Washington, D. C., to determine whether mailing privileges should be revoked, Court Asher (above), Muncie, Ind., publisher of the weekly newspaper "X-ray," declared that if statements printed in it were seditious "I didn't know it."

Sharp Increase in Arrests Over Year Ago Shown

Arrests in Marion are increasing.

One hundred and seventy-five arrests were made by city police in April, 41 more arrests than in the same month last year.

More traffic tags were also issued last month than during the same period in 1941. While 868 traffic tags were issued in April this year, only 634 traffic tags were given out during the same month last year.

The report also shows that 587 calls were handled last month and two stolen autos and seven stolen bicycles were recovered. Total value of property recovered was listed at $2,118.85.

Expenditures for incidentals during the month amounted to $101.70; salaries, $3,372.17; auto upkeep, $6.64; sustenance, $5; criminal investigation, $5; stationary and printing, $8.

Kerch Battle Continues

Other Bucharest dispatches, countering the German high command's claim that the battle of Kerch was "concluded," admitted that Soviet troops were "still fighting with sharp resistance at many points" in the eastern Crimea.

"On the Kerch peninsula (where the German high command claims final victory) battles continued in the eastern section," a government communique declared.

On the Leningrad front Russian troops cut a road between two enemy centers of resistance and slew 600 Germans to repulse Nazi counter-attacks intended to restore the line, and Red army artillery and mortar fire accounted for 300 more on northwestern sectors, the information bureau reported.

Sofia dispatches, cleared through censorship to Switzerland, indicate Bulgarians now regret their entry into the axis last spring and speak of a peace by compromise.

"Even the most fanatical followers of Germany," said a dispatch to the Neue Zuercher Zeitung, "doubt that the axis powers will be able to bring about a really decisive victory against the enemy coalition."

Board To Air Library Fuss This Afternoon

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21 — Kenneth C. Ray, state education director, said today he would attend a meeting of the state library board this afternoon to consider the resignation of Librarian Paul A. T. Noon.

Ray, board chairman by virtue of his directorship, said the four board members arranged the meeting without notifying him. He has been ill at his home with a cold.

One board member said the meeting was called to "hear Noon's side of the controversy." The librarian submitted his resignation, effective June 1, during a dispute with Ray over Noon's traveling expenses. Noon has held the $5,000-a-year position since 1933.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

A 27-year-old man, who told police he lived in London, O., was held at city prison today after being arrested yesterday on North Main street. He is being held in connection with a recent tire theft case, officers said. At the time of his arrest he had in his possession keys belonging to a Marion resident who recently reported the theft of several tires, police said.

IN NURSES SCHOOL CLASS

Miss Dorothy E. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed T. Jones of north of Delaware, will be graduated May 29 from the White Cross hospital school of nursing in Columbus, it was reported here today. Thirty-two young women will be graduated in exercises at the King Avenue Methodist church. Miss Jones was graduated from the Prospect High school in 1937.

HELD AFTER QUARREL

A 50-year-old West Side man was held at city prison today after police were told that he was involved in a fight with his wife yesterday afternoon at their home. Officers said he would probably be charged later with intoxication and disorderly conduct. Police were called to the scene by neighbors.

Two Marion County Schools Buy War Bonds

CENTRAL JUNIOR HIGH

Two $100 war bonds were purchased yesterday in the name of Central Junior High school.

The purchase was voted unanimously by the approximately 700 pupils in the various homerooms. Principal W. E. Orcutt discussed the idea with the teachers, who presented it to the homerooms for action.

PLEASANT TWP. SCHOOL

Fourteen dollars toward an $18.75 war bond has already been collected by members of the second grade at Pleasant Township rural school. Money is obtained by collecting tax stamps, selling candy and through class dues. It is expected that the bond will be purchased within the next week.

The nine boys and seven girls in the class are looking forward to graduation 10 years hence. They are purchasing the $25 bond to be left in the keeping of the board of education until they reach graduation. The money will then be used to help pay graduating expenses.

Idea for buying the bond was partly that of the teacher of the second grade, Miss Iris Schilling.

Goering Says Elements Unkind to Germany

By The Associated Press

BERLIN (FROM GERMAN BROADCASTS), May 21—Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, speaking yesterday in connection with decoration of war workers on the German home front, said that Germany needs rain.

"Three extremely hard winters are behind us," he said. "The elements have not been kind to us. Last year's harvest was bad. Even now, while we rejoice in good weather, we hope it will rain soon because we need rain."

(A London newspaper surmised from Goering's remarks that German rations would be further reduced although the Goering text, as recorded by official British listeners, contained no mention of rations.

"This war," Goering said at another juncture, "is the hardest Germany has had to fight....

Pleads Not Guilty To Drunk Driving Charge

Cleveland's Practice Dimout Called Success

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 21—Considering the fact it was Cleveland's first practice dimout—a partial blackout—the center of the city was satisfactorily darkened last night.

There were some bright spots here and there, besides the street lights left on intentionally, but county civilian defense director William A. Stinchcomb's verdict was: "It works."

The dimout lasted 20 minutes, beginning at 10 p. m., and extended from West 25th street to the eastern Thirties, back from the lakefront for about a mile. Several factories in the "flats," producing war materials, certain bridge lights, and police cars were not blacked out.

Bodies of Two Fliers Found in Mountains

By The Associated Press

BISHOP, Calif., May 21—Two army officers' bodies were found yesterday in the snow on Mount Kidd, where a transport plane carried eight men to their death last Dec. 12.

The bodies of Lieut. Col. George W. Ricker and Col. Charles W. Bundy were found yesterday by a mountain climber, Norman Clyde. The body of Pvt. Samuel J. Van Hamm was recovered a few days after the wreckage was first sighted May 5.

Others aboard the plane were Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Dargue, commander of the first air force; Maj. Hugh F. McCaffery, Capt. J. O. Leavitt, pilot; Lieut. Homer C. Burns, co-pilot, and Staff Sgt. Stephen Hoffman.

M'SWEENEY TO RUN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 21—A group of the state's Democratic leaders planning a second meeting to urge other Democratic gubernatorial candidates to withdraw in favor of Ray T. Miller, Cuyahoga county party chairman, got another setback today. John McSweeney of Wooster, former Democratic congressman, reiterated at Ashland last night that he had no intention of withdrawing.

BAN RUBBERNECK BUSES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21 — The rubberneck bus is going to be put to more essential war use to save rubber. Effective June 1, the office of defense transportation decreed last night, all sightseeing bus services will be prohibited and chartered buses will be reduced to such essential operations as the moving of troops, war workers, and school children.

BOOST RUBBER OUTPUT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones told senators today he had recommended that the nation's synthetic rubber capacity be raised from present plans for 800,000 tons a year to 1,000,000. The secretary also disclosed government financed plants for converting grains and other farm products into synthetic rubber would be increased from present plans for 80,000 tons to 200,000 tons.

Two-Week Old Lamb Is Unusual Household Pet of Marion Family

By RICHARD STOLL

Even as is, "Amby," as four-year-old Sonny Clarke calls the lamb, is quite a problem for Mrs. Clarke, who must act as nurse-maid for it. The Clarkes live at 274 South High street, where traffic is rather heavy. The other day, when 22-months-old Jack ran into the street into the path of an oncoming car, Mrs. Clarke dashed to the rescue. She didn't think to close the gate on the porch, where "Amby" is kept some of the time, and the lamb followed her into the street.

Then, too, there's the matter of feeding the lamb.

"I feed 'Amby' every three hours," Mrs. Clarke said. "Say, it's time to feed her now. Just a minute—"

Milk was hurriedly heated and put into an ordinary baby's milk bottle. "Amby," bleating hungrily on the front porch, was let in. In nothing flat the lamb's mouth was sucking at the bottle.

"She drinks more than a quart a day," Mrs. Clarke remarked. "And when she gets bigger—well, I don't know. I'll just have to increase her milk, I suppose.

"The other night, without thinking she'd eat them, I sliced some carrots and put them on the floor in front of her. Did she eat them? Well, just about as fast as she drinks milk!"

The Clarkes obtained "Amby" from a relative, who lives about four miles east of Waldo. The relative persuaded them to take the lamb for a while when the lamb's mother was not able to nurse it properly.

But it looks as if "Amby" has a new home, far from its native pastures.

The Clarkes got "Amby" when she was just two days old.

"Buddy," the Clarke's dog, and "Amby" get along just fine—at least most of the time they do, Mrs. Clarke said.

"At first 'Buddy' protected 'Amby.' If any one came near, he would snap at them. But, now that 'Amby' is getting bigger and more active, I guess 'Buddy' thinks she needs no protection. The other night he got rather rough with her. They were on the back porch at the time. He began to bite at her. She took a step backward and butted him right off the porch. He doesn't bother her any more."

what is America fighting for?

Freedom of Religion!

(One of the Essentials of a Democracy)

In America, Faith has no limits. America believes in and hallows the religions of the world.

To Americans, the right to worship as they choose is as fundamental as the right to own their own property, or to choose their own life's work. But to our enemies, America's way is intolerable. The very precepts upon which our American life is built are the things they seek to destroy.

Faith and courage . . . initiative and honest sweat . . . a passion for liberty and justice and equal rights for free men—those are the seeds from which the American way of life has sprung. Today, America's Faith is undaunted. The light of freedom burns indelibly in the hearts of free American men, fighting today until Victory!

Yes, Salad Days Are Here Again

By PATRICIA MONTCLAIR

Salads planned as the main dish for luncheon or supper reach their highest popularity during the three months just ahead. Here are three which a famous restaurant chain has found to be universal favorites.

Vegetable Salad Platter

Four kinds of salads are featured here, offering a varied choice. They are endive with pimiento strips; hearts of lettuce; lettuce and tomato slices, and a combination of avocado pear, orange, tomato and chicory. The latter requires the following ingredients to serve six.

Arrange 6 chicory nests on platter. Peel avocados and cut in thirds, placing a third in each nest. Peel and cut oranges and tomatoes into 8 sections, placing two section of each alternately across the top of each portion of avocado. Sprinkle with French dressing. Serve mayonnaise on the side if desired.

Crabflake Tomato Aspic Salad

Two cups crabflake, 2 cups celery, diced, 1 cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, salt and pepper, Chicory.

Mix together and season to taste, garnishing salad with chicory curls. Placing in the center of aspic ring, made as follows:

One No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 clove, 2 bay leaves, few sprigs parsley, 2 stalks celery, 1 chopped onion, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, dash of tabasco, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons gelatine soaked in 1/3 cup cold water.

Boil together tomatoes clove, bay leaves, parsley, celery and onion for 10 minutes. Strain, pressing as much tomato as possible through a fine strainer. Reheat mixture and pour over dissolved gelatin. Stir till gelatine is thoroughly absorbed. Add other ingredients, season to taste and chill. Garnish with ripe olives, avocado pear slices and stuffed eggs.

Formal Fruit Platter

In the center of platter arrange a ring of cream cheese balls which have been rolled in chopped nuts. Inside ring heap a mound of honeydew melon balls, sprinkled with lemon juice. In one corner of platter place a mound of fresh pineapple cubes on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Next to this arrange a nest of fresh unhulled strawberries in a lettuce cup. In center of platter, on each side, place glossy dark cherries and avocado slices. In the other two corners arrange two lettuce nests, one containing unpeeled red apple slices and grapefruit sections, the other orange sections. Sprinkle all with French dressing. Prepare a bowl of half whipped cream and half mayonnaise to pass with salad.

Herbs Gain New Favor for Flavoring of Food

Dear Friends in Marion: Within the last few years, humble herbs have come out of the shadowy past to capture the hearts and minds of busy people. Today herbs are more popular than they have been in many generations.

Little herb gardens have grown into thriving business for a few industrious and farsighted women, two of whom are large-scale growers in Connecticut. This spring many householders who have a small plot of ground are planning to grow some of the magic plants so satisfying in fragrance and in flavor.

Although this revival of interest started several years ago, inevitably it now ties up with the war, for in the past years we came to rely on imported herbs from the Balkans and Russia, and to a large extent, from Europe. These imports have almost ceased and our reserves are fast dwindling away. So America is once more showing her independence and American gardeners are proving that they can grow their own—and do it right well.

The two outstanding experts in Connecticut, referred to above, are Mrs. "Pat" Winter of Juniper Hills and Rosetta E. Clarkson of Salt Acres, both of whom have been responsible for inspiring countless other women with their enthusiasm for growing and using herbs.

When Mrs. Winter found that she could not grow enough herbs to supply the increasing demand, she trained other women in her section to produce these pungent plants, and taught them the secrets of harvesting and drying—which are as essential to success as the actual gardening. Some of her own recipes and ABC short-cuts to herb cookery are incorporated in a booklet that was revised and expanded last year.

Rosetta Clarkson, already known as the author of "Magic Gardens" and "Green Enchantment" has written another practical and authoritative volume, "Herbs: Their Culture and Uses." Here is a rich fountain of information for the gardener, the cook, the botanist, the artist, and the searcher for peace — whose imagination and dreams are stimulated by this new-old study. Here also is accurate guidance, whether you want to know how and where to plant herbs, how to propagate them, how to harvest, store and market, how to make potpourris, a catnip puff for your cat, poultry stuffing, filled savory seed cookies, herb jellies, and other treats that feature herbs. An unusual feature is a separate section of tabular illustrated paragraphs on 101 useful herbs, giving particularized directions, descriptions and uses.

Variety of Uses

Study of these paragraphs reveals that many herbs have a variety of medicinal, cosmetic and industrial uses, often combining several valuable contributions with their superior culinary performance. Some plants make separate contributions with seeds, the flowering top, root and leaves. For instance:

Tarragon leaf, (culinary) over steaks, chops, in salads, fish sauce, preserves, pickles, mustard, mayonnaise, Sauce Bearnaise and in tarragon vinegar; (medicinal) in scurvy. Leafy Top — (Industrial) flavors confectionery, perfumes, toilet waters.

Gardeners who claim they have never grown herbs may be surprised to discover prominently in the list such favorites as cornflower (bachelor's button), the juices from which go into blue ink; they are added to fumigation powders and (medicinal) cordial, tonic, for diseases of eyes and fevers. Even that familiar rock garden plant hen-and-chickens has medicinal uses, for the bruised leaves are applied as cooling applications to burns and other external inflamations.

Pyrethrum is on the honor list, for its flowers are used in most insecticides. Hollyhock and lily-of-the-valley are numbered in the herb collection for medicinal contributions, as are parsley, pennyroyal and the shy primrose.

It is within the last 200 years or so that any distinction has been made between herbs and flowers. If you have a garden, it is almost certain you have grown herbs.

Soil Requirements

For the herb garden choose well-drained soil and a sheltered spot, since herbs dislike harsh winds. Some of them actually grow well on "poor" soil, for much fertilizer makes them "bushy" and there will be less oil and fragrance. Herbs love sunny hours, and the plants are at their best on these July and August days that wilt human beings.

Since herbs are used so sparingly, a half dozen plants of the foliage herbs will supply the average family.

Even a landless apartment dweller may have such herbs as chives, parsley, lemon balm, rosemary, lemon verbena, peppermint and tarragon growing in window poxes or pots.

Though you cannot grow your own, you can learn to accent your foods with the tantalizing flavor of herbs. Americans, no longer dependent on imported supplies, are developing such distinctive specialties as herb vinegars — of many types and uses, herb salad vinegar, herbal hair rinses (for use at home or in the beauty parlor), herb-flavored sauces and fascinating bouquets in convenient containers that lend flavor and excitement to everyday foods.

Remember that the herb taste should not stand out so prominently that it is recognized as any definite herb. The longer the herb is in the food, the more oils will be released; heat acts upon them more quickly than cold. Therefore add herbs to soup or stew about three-quarters of an hour before the end of cooking; let herbs stand several hours overnight in cold food, such as vegetable cocktails.

Mrs. George O. Hurd

Sugarless Desserts

Fruits are playing an important part in supplying the menu with sugarless desserts. These new desserts are wholeome, too, for young and old. Try them.

Peach Compote Surprise

4 halves tinned peaches, with juice, ½ cup evaporated milk, chilled (or whipping cream) shavings of semi-sweet chocolate.

Place chilled peach halves in dessert glasses and pour the juice over them. Whip evaporated milk until thick, but not stiff. Top the peaches generously with this milk and cover thickly with chocolate shavings; rub cocolate against shaving side of grater for topping. Serves 4.

Baked Pears

3 cups boiling water, 32 marshmallows, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 8 fresh pears, halved.

Pour boiling water into saucepan, add marshmallows and salt and warm over low heat until marshmallows are thoroughly melted. Remove from fire, add lemon juice and pour the hot syrup over the pears, which are ready in a baking dish. Choose firm pears, cut in half, but do not peel. Cover the dish and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. or until fruit is tender. Serves 6. Those keep well in the refrigerator; store and use as needed.

• • •

Stuffed Green Peppers

2 cups cooked meat, 4 tablespoons gated onion, ½ cup mashed potatoes, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup catsup, 1½ cups gravy or stock, 6 green peppers, ½ fresh tomato.

Chop or grind "left-over" meat. Add onions, potatoes and seasoning with gravy or thickened soup stock to moisten. Remove seeds and membrane from peppers. Parboil pepper cases 2 minues, drain, rinse with cold water and fill with meat mixture. Place a tomato section on each pepper. Arrange peppers in baking dish and bake 45 minutes in moderate oven, 350 degrees F. Baste occasionally with the remaining gravy. Serves 6. When short of gravy, use the bouillon cube dissolved in hot water.

Fine Herb Mixture For Vegetable Cocktails

For 1 pint of liquid: ½ teaspoon each of sweet marjoram, basil, tarragon, thyme, summer savory; 1 tablespoon chopped chives.

Let the herb mixture infuse 4 or 5 hours or overnight, with 1 pint plain tomato juice, canned or fresh. Season with ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon sugar. At serving time, add the juice of 1 lemon and 1 orange and strain into chilled glasses.

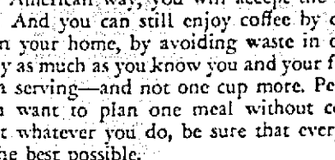
"WE CANNOT HAVE ALL WE WANT IF OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS ARE TO HAVE ALL THEY NEED!"

—PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, April 27th, 1942



For example, you must give up some of the coffee you enjoy—but you'll do it gladly when you realize why you are making the sacrifice

THESE days, you are being called upon to "do without" for the sake of Victory. One of these sacrifices concerns your enjoyment of coffee. The War Production Board has placed restrictions on the distribution of all coffees. This means that now there is 25% less coffee to go around, than a year ago.

To meet this emergency, A&P asks that you share with your neighbor—that you buy only one package of coffee at a time. Some customers may wish to "buy as usual", but if they were permitted to, they would be depriving a friend or a neighbor of the equal right to enjoy coffee.

In the American way, you will accept the restriction willingly. And you can still enjoy coffee by conserving it right in your home, by avoiding waste in every way. Make only as much as you know you and your family will drink at a serving—and not one cup more. Perhaps you may even want to plan one meal without coffee each week. But whatever you do, be sure that every cup you brew is the best possible.

It's far better to have one cup of good coffee than two cups of poor coffee. Follow these simple rules for making good coffee—they're easy:

1. Buy coffee that is freshly roasted.
2. Buy coffee that is freshly ground and correctly ground for your coffeepot.
3. Be sure your coffeepot is absolutely clean.
4. Carefully measure both coffee and water—one heaping tablespoonful of coffee for each cup (½ pint) of water.
5. Serve immediately after brewing.

Follow these simple, practical rules. They'll help you make and enjoy perfect coffee every time. Don't waste coffee—give your full support to our government's conservation order. Enjoy coffee and share that pleasure with your neighbor.

AAA EXPENSE RATE LISTED

Marion Co. Cost Below U. S. Average Criticized by Senator.

It cost $11,516 to administer the federal agricultural conservation program in Marion county during 1940 or 6.7 per cent of the total AAA payments to farmers, a report presented to congress by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) showed. This was reported by The Associated Press.

Figures for nearby counties were also listed. They are:

Crawford — $135,857 paid to farmers; administrative expenses $11,258 or 8.3 per cent of payments to farmers.

Delaware — $164,662 paid to farmers; administrative expenses $11,392 or 6.9 per cent of payments to farmers.

Hardin—$166,512 paid to farmers; administrative expenses $12,709 or 7.6 per cent of payments to farmers.

Morrow—$122,384 paid to farmers; administrative expenses $11,990 or 9.8 per cent of payments to farmers.

Union—$170,566 paid to farmers; administrative expenses $11,820 or 6.9 per cent of payments to farmers.

Wyandot — $133,264 paid to farmers; administrative expenses $11,853 or 8.9 per cent of payments to farmers.

Administrative expenses of the county agricultural conservation associations in Ohio averaged 9.3 per cent of the gross payments to farmers in 1940, the report showed.

Two Extremes

Senator Byrd, presenting the figures for each state, said they showed that Rhode Island had the highest administrative costs, 20.6 per cent. Arizona had the lowest at 3.8 per cent.

The senator asserted that farmers were deprived of $42,000,000 in 1940 to pay salaries and expenses of 100,000 county committeemen, or about 10 per cent of the sum appropriated for the conservation program.

"If the farmers understood that $42,000,000 was taken off their checks by reasons of the expenses of the 90,000 to 100,000 county committeemen," he said, "I think very strenuous objection would be raised."

The report indicated a wide variation in the administrative costs among counties, and Byrd said he was unaware of any satisfactory explanation of this.

Called "Excessive"

Senator Byrd told the senate that the committee on reduction of non-essential spending was "greatly disturbed over what it regarded as the very excessive costs of these county committees."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) described himself as startled and shocked over the amount of administrative expenses.

Gross payments to Ohio farmers under the 1940 program amounted to $11,241,498 and expenses of the county associations totaled $1,049,316, said the report.

Postmaster's Exam Set for Green Camp

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP, May 21—The United States civil service commission has announced an examination, as a result of which it is expected to make a certification to fill the vacancy of the fourth class post office here.

Applications will be received until June 5. The examination will be conducted in Marion at a date yet to be announced.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-first birthday but not their sixty-fifth as of June 5; they must reside in the territory supplied by the local office. Application blanks can be secured at the Green camp post office or the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

The compensation of the postmaster for the last fiscal year was $820. John Williams is now acting postmaster, succeeding Dana G. Barber who recently resigned.

D. A. V. Outlines Plans for Memorial Services

Plans were made to take part in Memorial services at Forest Glen Memorial park Sunday by the Rainbow Veterans and the Marion Navy club, and also in the general Memorial day exercises May 30, at a meeting of Marion Chapter No. 22, D. A. V., Tuesday night. It was voted to purchase a $50 defense bond. One new member was enrolled. Officers will be nominated June 2 and the election will be held June 16.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Belle Of The Ball

FRED DeMILLE reached Kathleen's side, as Joe hurried off. "Here I am back again, like the proverbial bad penny!" he said. "You draw me like a magnet."

"You do say nice things to a girl," Kathleen said. "But don't think I fall for it—even if I am a rustic girl in a rural setting."

"The setting may be more or less rural," said Fred, "But there's nothing rustic about you, my child."

"That" smiled Kathleen, "is the nicest thing you've said to me yet."

"And now," Fred said, as they moved in and out among the other dancers, "I wonder if you'd do me a favor."

"Of course."

"I've got to find some furniture of a pre-war Civil War variety," Fred explained. "For the play I told you about."

"You mean 'Goodbye, Honey Child?'"

"Yes, that one. I thought you'd know where we could find some. How about driving out to some of the plantations with me, and having a look."

"I'd be glad to," said Kathleen eagerly, "I've got a few pieces myself that you're welcome to. And I know a lot of folks in the country near Linville who have a lot of stuff stored in their attics."

"Splendid!" said Fred. "Shall we make the trip tomorrow? Sunday's a good day for me. The play for next week is a familiar one, and it's all set."

"Tomorrow will be all right with me. Morning or afternoon?"

"Let's make it in the afternoon, and then we'll stop off at some eating spot for dinner."

"That'll be fun!" said Kathleen. "But don't feel you've got to buy me dinner for helping you find furniture."

"I'm asking you to have dinner with me," said Fred, "because you do things to me—make me feel young again. And that, my child, is something."

Someone else cut in then. Then another man. On and on.

Handsome Couple

And as Kathleen danced with each of them she only half heard what they were talking about. She was thinking of the drive out into the country with Fred DeMille, thinking of the things she was going to say to him.

"Why so silent, honey?" her partner asked.

"Thinking!" said Kathleen.

"About me?"

"Of course," she lied.

"Maybe I've got a chance with you after all!" said the young man, overwhelmed.

"Maybe," said Kathleen.

"Joe's going for actress in a big way!" he said. He nodded toward where Joe was leading Ruby Howard out for a dance. And with the leading lady, too, he's certainly hitting high!"

Kathleen looked. And she got a glimpse of Joe smiling down into Ruby Howard's upturned face. Joe all youthful enthusiasm—and Ruby with wide, interested eyes.

"See em?"

"Yes. They make a handsome couple."

"Not afraid?"

"Of what?"

"That actress—she might steal Joe, you know."

"Certainly I'm not afraid of any such thing! Don't be silly. I'm glad Joe might to show interest in someone besides me."

Her partner gave her a quick look—a puzzled look. And then he settled down to the business of dancing.

It was soon they were passing close beside Joe and Ruby that Kathleen heard their conversation.

"Then it's all arranged," Ruby was saying. "You'll bring the manuscript of the play up to my room at the inn—and read it to me."

"You bet I will," said Joe. "And it's darned swell of you to be willing to hear it."

"Nonsense!" Ruby exclaimed. "It sounds just like what I've been searching for."

"Well, I hope it is," said Joe. "It's pretty crude in spots—but I'll get to work on it. You've given me incentive."

"Have I?" Ruby's voice was soft, almost affectionate. "I'm glad. Who knows but what we've discovered inspiration in each other."

Joe looked up and saw Kathleen.

"Hello, Toots!" he said.

"Hello!" she called back—hating being addressed by that silly name.

Ruby smiled at her. "Mr. Neely's been a god end!" she said.

"Really?" said Kathleen. "How sweet!"

Ruby then turned back to Joe. She began to talk to him as though they had known each other since the beginning of time. Kathleen tried to hear what she was saying. But she couldn't.

The Savor Gone

She threw back her head and smiled at the young man who was dancing with her. But the smile was forced. She didn't feel at all like smiling. She kept thinking about Joe being alone with Ruby Howard—reading to the actress the play he had read to her so often. And she couldn't to save her understand why the picture Joe and Ruby made should annoy her as it did. But it did annoy her.

"Who knows," Ruby had said to him, "but that we've discovered inspiration in each other."

"Darn!" she said with considerable feeling.

"What's the matter?" her partner asked.

"Just thinking out loud," Kathleen told him.

And they danced on and on.

But now there wasn't very much lightness in the dancing, so far as Kathleen was concerned. She was even glad when it was all over, and everyone was telling Mrs. Buxton what a huge success the reception had been, and congratulating her upon her cleverness in planning and carrying things out.

"Ready to go?" said Fred.

"Yes," Kathleen replied.

"I'm all in," Fred said later, when they were in his car. "Can't keep the late hours I used to keep. Got to have my eight hours sleep."

"Dancing is tiresome if you keep it up too long," said Kathleen, oddly listless.

Fred had little more to say. He was weary. That was easy to see. All the sparkle had gone out of him. And Kathleen felt a surge of disappointment. She had thought that there might be an opportunity to talk acting to Fred on the way home—but she now decided not to mention the matter.

There wouldn't be any use, anyway—with Fred acting as though he might fall asleep at the wheel any moment. She sank back against the upholstery and closed her eyes.

She kept hoping that her companion would become more wide awake as the early morning air blew upon them, that he would start talking to her.

But he didn't. And she decided to say nothing herself.

They sped on in silence.

Committees for Memorial Day Services in Marion Appointed

Program Plans Nearing Completion; Parade and Program at Marion Cemetery Arranged.

Announcement of committees and further plans for the annual observance of Memorial day Saturday, May 30, is being made today by the general Memorial Day committee headed by James E. Masterson, chairman. The services this year will follow the annual custom and will be held in the cemetery.

The parade will form at 9:45 a. m. and will move promptly at 10 a. m. The services will be conducted at the Marion cemetery with Russell M. Wilhelm, former prosecuting attorney and a World war veteran, as the speaker. Fred Bell will serve as chairman of the veterans' firing squad and taps will be sounded by Frank Lemerle, commander of Marion Camp No. 32, United Spanish War Veterans.

The following committees have been named:

Lawns and grounds: E. C. Johnson, Fred Bers, Harry Sutton, O. H. Sifritt, Charles Stafford, Don E. Wheeler, Ed Miller, James Ryan, W. H. Sifritt, Fred Rife, Emmett Shadehead.

Marking of graves: John Monk, Donald Sloan, Tim Ford, Harry Bounty, Fred H. Morrison, Ray Reynolds, Norvall V. Foreman, R. C. Kinnear, R. C. VanVoorhis, Jay MacDonald, J. M. Curlis, Charles Bradley, Charles Stafford and Frank Letterle.

The committee requests that all residents who have flowers to contribute for bouquets for the decorations of Veterans' graves to bring them to the school building nearest them and they will be collected by the committee at about 4 p. m. Friday afternoon preceding Memorial Day. In this way the committee to work at the court house to make up the bouquets can do their work in the late evening and the flowers will be fresher for Memorial Day.

The committee also requests that all citizens display flags both in the business and residential sections.

John Monk, chairman of the grave marking committee, has requested that all members of his committee meet at the office at the Marion cemetery at 9 a. m. Friday preceding Memorial Day.

A program outlining the parade and services at the Marion cemetery will be published as soon as completed.

The next meeting of the general Memorial Day committee will be held Monday evening, June 27, at 8 p. m. in the Legion Dugout. This meeting will be to close business for 1942.

Closed with a slide fastener, a padded case has been invented for carrying bottles in suit cases without breaking.

Mort Cooper Hurls Two-Hit Ball as Cards Snap Dodgers' Win Strea

Cincinnati Swamps Philadelphia 10-3; Yanks Pull Ahead of Idle Tribe.

The Cooper boys from Asterion, Mo., are taking up this game where baseball's other [illegible] left off, the Deans, the Waners, the Ferrells and the rest left off.

The combination of Mort Cooper pitching and Walker Cooper catching has become a formidable battery for the St. Louis Cardinals. Yesterday the boys made a family affair of beating the Brooklyn Dodgers 1-0, in a thrilling show at Ebbets Field.

Mort pitched two-hit ball while Walker tripled and scored the only run of the game to snap an eight-game Brooklyn winning streak and shut out the National league champions for the first time this season.

Near Second Place

St. Louis came close to moving into second place by the victory over the Dodgers, but the Boston Braves managed to remain a half game in front by nosing out the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3, in 10 innings.

The Cincinnati Reds usually look good against the Phillies. At least they did yesterday, knocking off a 10-3 victory for Ray Starr, and may again today if Paul Derringer is right. Sy Johnson is the Phil pitcher.

Lamanno Leads Attack

Rookie Catcher Ray Lamanno was the big gun in the Red attack, with three for three, including a homer with the bases full. He drove in four runs and scored two.

Morton Cooper

Mel Ott hit his sixth home run with one on in the first inning to help the Giants get a 3-0 lead for Bob Carpenter in the first five frames against the Chicago Cubs. Then the Bruins went to work, Claude Passeau hit a two-run homer in the sixth, Lou Novikoff singled two tallies across in a three-run seventh inning and Bill Nicholson homered in the ninth. Final: Cubs 6, Giants 3.

The world champion New York Yankees invaded Comiskey park and belted the Chicago White Sox seven-game winning streak, 4-1. Joe Gordon hit two home runs.

Tribe Idle

Cleveland's game with the Boston Red Sox was postponed and thus the Yanks' first place lead was swelled to 13 percentage points although they are deadlocked in won-lost reckonings.

Jim Hegan, the rookie who made his season debut Tuesday by catching rookie pitcher Ed Embree's four-hitter over the Athletics, is in line for plenty of action with the Indians.

Manager Lou Boudreau told Hegan to pair up with Mel Hardy today against the Red Sox and remarked:

"Otto Denning has been overworked. Our favorites are injured. We have plenty of double-headers coming up and our pitchers and Hegan [illegible] right now."

Boudreau put himself out of the lineup today after being out since Monday. Lou Finney landed on the 21-day list with Elmer Valo of the A's.

Air-tight relief pitching by Lamman Harris saved the Philadelphia Athletics out of the cellar with a 5-3 decision over the Detroit Tigers, who scored their runs in the first two frames.

The Washington Senators moved Chicago's cellar spot by a 4-3 and 10-1 at St. Louis in a double [illegible]

American Association Games Are Postponed

By The Associated Press

Conditions being what they were in the American association yesterday, the Kansas City Blues had time to reflect on what it was the weather or not that fifth place Toledo Mud Hens are interfering with their run of first place.

All games were postponed for Kansas City and Toledo marked the fourth time the clubs to play each other had been balked. On the two occasions they did meet the result was a stalemate. Each won a game.

Toledo's only victory came Tuesday and shoved the Blues into second place, a full game behind Milwaukee.

Rigney Goes To Work for the Navy

Shouldering his sea bag, John Duncan Rigney (right column, second from front), 27, the Chicago White Sox pitcher, marches to his barracks at the Great Lakes Naval Training station with other navy men after donning the uniform of seaman. First class Naval officials didn't say whether "Dune" will be available immediately for Lieut. Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes baseball team.

Tom Warner To Play with N. P. Class C Team.

UPPER SANDUSKY, May 21—Tom Warner, 20 year old son of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Thomas Warner Sr., of North Sandusky avenue, has signed a contract to pitch this season with the Grand Forks, N. D., baseball team in the Northern Class C league.

Warner, a right handed hurler, played last season with the Tiffin Mud Hens in the now disbanded Ohio State Class D league. He recorded a percentage of .529 in games won with his team finishing the season in fourth place.

Bruno Haas, the playing manager of the Grand Forks team, expects to have Tom in action the last of this week.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 21—Although navy Bob Feller is at a station without a ball team, it doesn't look as if his arm will get rusty. He is scheduled to pitch for a navy team against Hugh Mulcahy's Fort Devens army outfit Saturday in a preliminary to the Red Sox-Athletics relief benefit game. Then Bob will go to Chicago to help out the service all-star outfit Dizzy Dean is assembling and contribute his share of the receipts to the navy relief society.

Cleveland, out to beat Brooklyn's attendance for its relief game has rounded up a group of prominent citizens who used to be ushers at League park to work at their old jobs for the day.

The next night Crowther Boyd, secretary of the Jacksonville club had a red lantern run up the flagpole so there wouldn't be another mistake.

NOVA BIDS TO STAY IN BIG-TIME TONIGHT

To Meet Lee Sovold Tonight in Washington Ring.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 21—Belting Lou Nova, the ex-yogi man from California, will make his bid to stay in the big-time heavyweight picture in a 10-round navy relief encounter with Lee Savold, of Des Moines, Ia., here tonight.

Nova, inactive since he was flattened by Champion Joe Louis last September, ruled a slight favorite.

The Californian has been impressive in training workouts for the past 10 days, showing more aggressiveness than usual. Savold, who has won 17 straight bouts, most of them over unknowns, hasn't looked too good.

For Nova, the bout represents a chance to stay in the running for a return shot at Louis's crown. If beaten by Savold, Lou probably would fade from the championship scene.

Nova expects to enter the ring at 202 pounds. Savold, whose title aspirations were interrupted by a knockout by Harry Bobo last summer, will scale around 186.

Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted a turnout of 15,000 would contribute upwards of $45,000 to the gate. About half of the take will go to the navy relief society.

30-Minute Preliminary Scrap To Match Gorilla Pogi and Russian.

A rough and tumble tag team pairing the Texan, Billy Venerable and Italian Martino Angelo against Ivan Kalmikoff and Rufus Jones is on store for Marion rassling customers tonight at the Armory.

Venerable, a touchy but tough grappler, teamed with Angelo, the Canadaboorn Feller, to defeat Lefty Pacer and Leo Jensen in a tag team affair in whirlwind fashion here several weeks ago.

Kalmikoff the Mad Russian, made his local debut last week in great style by defeating Tony Ross in a semifinal bout. It was Ross' initial loss on the Armory pad. He was born in central Russia in a section now scene of some of the greatest Russian-Nazi conflicts. He has fought in virtually every important city in Europe and came to Canada about two years ago. Regarded as one of the toughest men fighting in Promoter Les Fishbaugh's stable at present he is likely to meet his equal in either Venerable or Angelo.

In Rufus Jones he has one of the best partners a man could desire. Jones, the sepia-colored New York City meanie, is a skilled showman and an equally-brilliant ring performer. He has disposed of some of the better fighters to appear here and up to a couple of months ago was unbeaten. For tonight's scrap he'll weigh in at about 195.

Angelo is easily the star of the other duo. He has appeared here for several years and has been a long favorite throughout the central states. With the exception of a handful of stars developed in recent years he is about the best known wrestler to appear here. Promoter Fishbaugh tells an interesting tale concerning Angelo's beginning in the fight game. He often attended Fishbaugh's fights while fighting in the amateur ranks. After mastering the holds Fishbaugh used successfully he would spring them on the amateurs. His version of the holds failed to fool the amateurs and finally he was booted from the play ranks.

Gorilla Pogi, the Argentino who learned his ring tricks while a member of the Argentina merchant marines, is slated to meet Leo Jensen, the New Orlea... footballer, in the 30-min... liminary slated to start... Only one fall is require... decision.

Paul Waner Soon To Be Seventh Major League Player with 3,000 Hits or More

...n Brave Pinch-Hitter, Once Known as "Big Poison," Now Has 2,956 Hits.

By The Associated Press

...y 21—One day in ... away, the ... will add a sev... the list of major ... who have made ... of the 39-great... ers who was known ... his prime.

... wants need a 18-... slugging aver... a member of the ... Boston Bees

Due to his age, he has not been playing regularly this season but he still is rated as a dangerous pinch-hitter.

Paul has not had a very too many opportunities to hit this season but he has one advantage over every one of them, with the result that he needs only 21 more blows during the remainder of the Braves' schedule to achieve his goal.

When the season opened, Paul had a total of 2,956 hits to his credit, 44 shy of his goal. So far, he has come to bat 82 times and has pumped out 23 hits for a slugging mark of .280.

But Paul still has plenty of time to get his 3,000th hit and at the rate he has been hitting, it seems to be a matter of about a month or so.

Ty Cobb heads the all-time list with 4,191 hits.

JONES SEEKS COMMISSION

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, May 2.—Bobby Jones, 40-year-old retired emperor of golf, has applied for a commission in the United States air force Jones, now practicing law here, said he has not yet been informed as to the status of his application. He retired in 1930 after making his "grand slam." He is married and has three children.

A. B. C. Maintains Rigid Alley Code

COLUMBUS, O — They're very particular in tournament bowling as covered by ABC rules. There are 42,253 bowling alleys in the United States which have been measured 11 places before the American Bowling Congress agreed to let its members bowl a roll.

The requirements set up by the bowling fathers are precise. A tolerance of only 40 1000ths of an inch is permitted in the flatness of an alley (an alley must be flat as well as level) and this past year each lane at all ABC sanctioned alleys were checked six places between the foul line and the headpin 60 feet away.

There are standardized sizes for all pieces of equipment. The gutters must slope into the pit and be between 3½ and 3¾ inches deep, the distance from the end of the alley to the cushion must be at least 30 inches and, the centers of the pin spots must be exactly 12 inches apart.

'All equipment must be standardized in order that we can assure bowlers in one part of the country that bowlers elsewhere are confronted with identical playing conditions,' explains John C. Hubert.

Secretaries of city associations in 45 states (Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island do not have any certified alleys) can thank a brother bowler, Fred Susick of Upper Darby, Pa., for making this measuring work much easier than it has been in the past. Susick, a machinist, has developed what is considered as the best measuring device used on alleys yet.

It consists of a straight edge of machine tooled steel upon which is mounted a spirit level. Then a spring gauge slides across the top of the straight edge and as each board shows a variance it is immediately registered on the dial of the gauge. Should any board be more than 40/1000ths of an inch high or low the alley can not be approved.

Pins must also be tested periodically. Two pattern gauges in the ABC office test the pins. If a pin passes through the "go" gauge and fails to pass through the 'no go' gauge then it is approved as to shape and size. Scales decide the next factor, for no pin must weigh less than three pounds no more than three pounds eight ounces.

The ball can weigh anyplace between 10 and 16 pounds, must not be more than 27 inches in circumference and must pass a rigid balance test on tricky "dodo" scales to make sure it is not out of balance in such a manner as to bring about an unnatural hook delivery.

Left, alley must be flat to 40/1000ths of an inch. Right, pin must fit.

TWO BLACK SHEEP

EVANSTON, Ill. — Five of Northwestern's last seven grid captains are in the nation's armed forces, including Al Lind and Wally Cruice, 1935 co-captains; Steve Reid, 1936 leader; Don Heap, of 1937 vintage, and Dick Richards, 1940 captain.

ATTENTION, LADIES!

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—Seven months ago Fred Shook, Chicago Cardinal lineman, tried to join the army air corps but was turned down because of his 240 pounds. After seven months of two meals a day, without potatoes, or bread and butter, Shook trimmed away 60 pounds and was accepted.

Germans Call Children Over Ten for Work As Laborers in Fields

By ANGUS THUERMER

LISBON—The children of Germany—from 10 years old on up—will be drafted this summer and fall as farm laborers.

By thousands they will be rounded up from the great German cities herded together in Hitler youth platoons and companies and sent to camps in farm areas where they will be put to labor as hired hands.

In a tremendous effort to break one of Germany's greatest bottlenecks labor for farms, Hitler's all-powerful labor leader Fritz Sauckel asked for the child labor. He called upon Arthur Axmann, Hitler's youth leader, to send out his 8,000,000 uniformed children to plant potatoes, plow, weed and harvest the crops for Germany's fourth winter of war.

Call It "Honor Service"

This duty far from home, to which all German children are liable except those found physically unfit, has been designated a "war honor service."

Since April 14 and on until Nov. 15 any German school-child can be expected to be ordered willy-nilly from his class into the field anywhere in the reich to work a day or all summer.

The most they have been promised is a vacation of at least three weeks during the summer work period.

Sauckel and Axmann arranged two types of this farm service for children: short-term work on call, or long-term work distant from home.

A farmer needing someone to keep weeds down in his potato patch will take his request to the village Nazi farm fuehrer who will order the necessary number of children out of their classrooms to do the job.

In other areas where lack of farm hands is a general problem, whole battalions of children will be imported for summer-long work and will be quartered in youth hostels, Nazi party halls, barracks, labor camps, or singly in farmers' homes.

Girls Not Excused

Girls are not excused from the farm work. They are expected to be helpful to farmers' wives in their nurseries and kitchens.

The necessary movement of great masses of youngsters will be directed by the Nazi party children's evacuation division which heretofore has been charged in sending children from bomb endangered areas.

The newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter's account of the program said that children in the work camps would be allowed Sunday as a day of rest and would not be required at any time to walk more than two miles to their assigned fields.

The youthful farm hands will be fed at the farmer's table. Short-term farm work children not staying at the farm homes have been told they would be allowed "self supporters" ration books entitling them to more food.

Voelkischer Beobachter said the type of labor assigned would depend upon the strength of the children.

Blackout Service

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Recordings have been made to accommodate movie audiences during air raid emergencies.

The first interrupts the program to announce a blackout and requests cooperation.

The second, at the close of the feature picture, reminds the audience that the army forbids any one to leave until the all clear is sounded.

The third announces the blackout is over and thanks the audience on behalf of the management.

The harmonica was invented by Benjamin Franklin.

SELLING OUTBREAK CAUSES WHEAT DROP

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 21—An outbreak of selling after midsession today caused wheat prices to slump almost 2 cents a bushel to lows not equaled here since last November.

Corn tumbled more than 2 cents, May oats dropped more than 3 cents and rye and soybeans were down in a general reaction. Oats and rye reached lows for the past several months.

Stop loss selling was blamed for the speed of the decline. The market was nervous yesterday and during the first half of today's session, and brokers attributed much of the selling to the favorable crop picture, scarcity of storage space and government moves to press more wheat into consumption as feed. The senate approved a measure authorizing sale of government grain at prices below parity.

Johnny Kison's Wheat Crop Proves You Can Get Something from Nothing

By JACK HEWINS
Wide World Features

PASCO, Wash. — Out in the windy desert northeast of Pasco where the rainfall is counted drop by drop, "Sandblow Johnny" Kison's farm squats like a bit of bright green lichen clinging to a thirst-killed tree.

"Sandblow Johnny" had persistence, strength and a theory about the wind. He put the three together 10 years ago and they've added up to 1,280 acres of prosperous wheat farm in the middle of a land nobody wanted.

He calls the place "Johnnyacres."

Last fall he harvested 25 bushels of protein-rich wheat from every acre of a 640-acre field that doesn't look like it would support a horned toad.

It might be hard work and perseverance that has built Johnnyacres from a waste of sand into a prosperous farm, equipped with modern machinery, but Kison is willing to give his theory a share of the credit.

"When the wind blows and the sand starts to move it produces electric energy that is supposed to plant life. It seals the top soil so that it holds moisture," Kison says. If you appear unimpressed, he merely points to his growing wheat.

"Many people asked me what I was going to do out here in the desert. I said there was no profit in paying rent and this country has a lot of wind that is of no value unless you have sand to blow with it."

What he paid for the land is Kison's secret, but he admits that "when I moved here these acres didn't have any value, so I could not get any credit. I did most of the work myself and paid cash for what I bought. I put up my own buildings and drilled my 942-foot well."

There are no pigs, chickens or cows on Johnnyacres. They just "make a lot of extra work and the margin of profit is too small" in this sun-baked land, explains Johnny. He raises only wheat and rye.

When he harvests, Kison permits about 40 or 50 pounds of grain per acre to escape from the harvester with the chaff, theorizing that this grain sprouts into a "good cover crop and that helps to lay the soil and keeps it from blowing."

Soil experts are inclined to credit Kison's moisture conservation practices for his success. He works the ground only after the rare spring or fall rains and breaks up furrows with the chaff and soil drift gathered during harvest.

STOCKS STAGE BRISK RALLY

Relatively Brisk Recovery Features Trading on Wall Street Today.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21 — The cooing dove rather than the screaming eagle received the principal credit for a relatively brisk recovery move in today's stock market.

After hesitancy at the start, prominent industrials with a peacetime flavor stepped out in front in fairly active dealings. War shares, on the other hand, generally held to a narrow orbit. Gains of fractions to around 2 points predominated near the fourth hour.

The thought that the world conflict might be concluded sooner than some had expected continued to inspire selective speculative and investment bidding, brokers suggested.

Among stocks going into new high ground for the year were U. S. Rubber, Chrysler and Montgomery Ward. Early strength was exhibited by Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, General Motors, Union Carbide, J. C. Penney, Woolworth, American Airlines, Homestake Mining, Dome and American Telephone.

United Aircraft and Douglas lagged; along with Santa Fe, Cerro De Pasco and American Smelting, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem did better.

Scrap

Fifty old newspapers will make 10 containers for 75-mm. shells.

A 10-pound window weight will go whizzing over the lines as a three-inch shell.

Two pairs of Jack's rubbers will make a pair of overshoes to keep a soldier's feet dry.

Your five pound flat iron could be mustered into service as four hand-grenades.

That old woolen suit, transformed into two army blankets, will keep a soldier warm in Australia.

A pair of roller skates, two door hinges, a door lock, an old spade, a trash burner and trash basket have all the metal required for a brand new .30-cal. machine gun.

Twenty-five feet of leaky garden hose will provide rubber for seven doughboys' gas masks.

Eighteen .30-cal. cartridges are hiding from military service in every pounds of abandoned brass pipe.

P. H. C. GROUP MEETS

It was decided to hold meetings each Tuesday night at a meeting of Marion Circle No. 184, Protected Home circle, Tuesday night. The members will hold a dance next Tuesday night, and on Wednesday, May 27, will attend a meeting at Lima. Team practice followed the work. The meeting was preceded by a pot-luck supper with covers laid for 30.

Estimated cost $15,500.00
Contract to be completed not later than September 30, 1942.

The minimum wage to be paid to all labor employed on this contract shall be in accordance with the schedule of Prevailing Hourly Wage Rates Ascertained and Determined by The Department of Industrial Relations applicable to State Highway Department Improvements in accordance with Sections 17-2, 17-4, 17-4a, 17-5 and 17-5a of the General Code of Ohio.

The bidder must submit with his bid a certified check in an amount equal to five per cent of the estimated cost, but in no event more than ten thousand dollars.

Plans and specifications are on file in the department of highways and the office of the resident district deputy director.

The director reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
H. G. SOUTH,
State Highway Director.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The Garand semi-automatic rifle, which is the standard issue today for the U. S. army, is superior to the old Springfield rifle in many respects. We literally need millions of these fast shooting powerful rifles to equip our army. They cost $85 each and are being manufactured at the rate of one a minute. They fire sixty .30-caliber shells a minute.

Every one of the 40,000,000 employed persons in America could easily buy one of these rifles for the army. Not that we need that many, but the reserve could go into shells and other much needed supplies. Buy more and more War Bonds and top the quota in your county by investing at least ten percent of your income every pay day.

VERNON HEIGHTS SCHOOL PUPILS TO GIVE PLAYS

Program Arranged for Friday Night.

Pupils of the ninth grade of the Vernon Heights Junior High school will present two plays Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Music preceding the curtain and during the intermissions will be presented by the school orchestra, directed by Homer E. Huffman, supervisor of instrumental music in the public schools.

Former Marion Pastor Talks at Class Social

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Schillinger of Columbus were guests at a meeting of the Senior Bible class of Emanuel Lutheran Sunday school Tuesday night at the church. Rev. Schillinger, former pastor of the church, gave a talk on "Home Missions." Mrs. Curtis Laubner and Miss Dorothy Vollmer sang a duet. Plans were made for a picnic at the next meeting June 16. Serving as a committee for a social hour were Mrs. J. W. Snyder, Mrs. Anna Behner, Mrs. Herman Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Atkinson, Lawrence, Dave and Fred Rengert.

Effects of Gas

The war gases have not found their way into the newspapers very much during the present conflict. This is not entirely due, I understand, to the strength of popular prejudice against them, as a matter of fact, there is little use in talking about prejudice against various forms of lethal weapons.

Men most familiar with its various aspects state that the use of gas is one of the least brutal methods of warfare. Neither at the time nor afterward is gas poisoning nearly as bad as gunshot wounds. Prentice said in 1935: "If the man who is gassed survives the war, he comes out body-whole as God made him, not legless, armless or deformed cripple produced by the mangling, rending effects of high explosives, gunshot wounds and bayonet thrusts."

The real reason for the lack of prominence of gas in this war is that practically nobody who was in retreat had gases to use or a chance to use them. A prominent military observer told me the other day that it is quite possible that the Germans will use gas as a defensive measure if they have to retreat before the Russian army this spring. The Russians and the Greeks didn't have gas so they couldn't use it when they retreated. Gas is a poor weapon to use on the offensive, because if you lay down a barrage of gas, you have to move your own army immediately into it while the other army moves away from it.

War gases are classified on the basis of their chemical properties and the kind of action they have. They can also be very carefully selected with a view to their particular kind of action to tactical advantage. There are five general kinds of war gases:

Lachrymators.—These have a more or less selective action on the eye. In other words, they can be breathed in without doing any harm but they cause a large secretion of tears, pain and swelling of the eye and temporary blindness. They have few if any after effects and their main use is temporarily to reduce the fighting efficiency of the enemy.

Sternutators are those which irritate the upper respiratory tract. They cause sneezing, coughing, intense headache, vomiting and thus create physical disability. Most of them have a considerable amount of penetrability and can get through the gas mask and cause the soldier to remove the mask, thus exposing him to other more toxic gases which are usually employed at the same time.

Irritants of Lungs

Lung Irritants.—Some of these simply irritate the bronchial tubes and some of them penetrate the lung cells, perhaps to produce more lasting and permanent disability.

Vesicants.—These act on the surface of the body to produce irritation and blistering. The skin, the eye and the respiratory tract are particularly vulnerable to their action.

Systemic Toxic Agents.—This group was a great disappointment to the Germans in the last war. Theoretically, they would be the best of the gases because they would overwhelm the enemy with poisonous effects. But they were found unsuitable for chemical warfare because it was almost impossible to produce lethal concentrations on the battlefield. Sublethal concentrations were harmless.

Answer: There is no danger in a second operation for hemorrhoids provided it is done in a skillful manner.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

Fearing to Use Hotel Lansfield Phone, Madge Sends Message to Her Father by Dr. Twitchell.

I BEGAN the analysis of my terrific problem with one premise firmly established. The gangster who had asked me to "trade," by sending a telephone message for him in exchange for information about something threatening my father, had planned to "double-cross" me, even as, I told myself ruefully, I was "double-crossing" him by failing to keep my promise to send the message he had given me.

The man who had impersonated Professor Diswell so well that, even after the rough handling attending his capture, he still looked enough like the old savant to be his twin brother, had told me that a certain gang was planning to "rub out" my father the minute he should go outside the hotel, and urged me to tell my father he would better stay safe in his rooms.

Suspects Treachery

Knowing the abysmal evil and treachery of all the men now in our custody, and remembering especially the look of malignant triumph in the eyes of the man who had been talking to me, I was sure that he was counting on my transmitting to my father exactly the words he had used. "Tell him he'd better stay safe in his rooms."

Only one interpretation was to be put upon that. And evil threatening my father was lurking in or near his own suite of rooms in the hotel. I must see that he left them at once, but under an escort sufficient to guard him against any danger. And Ronald must go with him.

Yet how could I warn him? I dared not telephone him at the hotel, or have anyone else talk to him over the telephone there. For my suspicion as to the identity of the man who had telephoned the gangsters from an unlisted private telephone in Hotel Lansfield—a suspicion which I could not yet verify—magnified so deadly and efficient an espionage over all telephone calls that I knew I never again would dare to say anything more significant than "Good morning!" over a Lansfield telephone.

Hits on a Plan

Until I could talk to my father face to face, I would not acknowledge even to myself the identity of the man I suspected of talking over that unlisted telephone to the gangsters in Professor Diswell's home. But I must not run the risk of having my father stay in the hotel, or talk over its telephone system, a minute longer than the time required to get him out of there.

For a long minute I sat tense, with ideas clashing each other around my brain. Then, as necessity pressed upon me, the saving grace of an idea came to me, and I called long distance and asked for the New York office number of Dr. Twitchell, the surgeon whom my father always called to the hideaway, or anywhere else, when his investigations presented the need of medical or surgical skill.

He answered immediately, and I spoke in as crisp and rapid fashion as I could.

"Dr. Twitchell? This is Mrs. Graham, daughter of Charles Spencer."

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Graham; what can I do for you?"

"I have just learned—I cannot tell you how—that my father is in great danger unless he leaves his suite at Hotel Lansfield as soon as possible, and goes down well-guarded to—you know where."

"Yes, yes, I understand," he replied. "Tell me exactly what I must do."

Instructs Dr. Twitchell

"You must not telephone him, nor must he use the telephone until he reaches his own place. I want you to go to the Lansfield and go directly up in the elevator to this number"—I gave him the number of my father's suite. "Take a husky bodyguard with you, although I do not think you will have any trouble. The danger is to come to him in a more subtle way.

"Tell him I said that he must leave the hotel immediately and take Ronald with him, but that Ronald must take no baggage. Have him leave that packed so it can be sent for later. Have Father take the key of the suite with him, so that neither of them has to go near the desk. They simply are to go out of the hotel as if they were on a casual errand and meant to return. Ronald can stuff his shaving things and toilet articles in his pockets.

"Then I want them to go down to—you know where—and wait until I come back tonight. Tell my father that his life, and probably Ronald's, depends upon his leaving the hotel at once without notifying anyone—not anyone. Please make that very strong."
